RUSSIA DECLINES TO JOIN IN PEACE BLOC ON PROPOSED TERMS

Eventual Support of Moscow for Anti-Aggression Front Expected—Conferences at Geneva Next Week May Result in Agreement—British Suggestion Not Regarded Reciprocal

LONDON, May 15 (AP).—Russia has declined to enter a European peace bloc on Great Britain's terms, it was reported tonight a few hours after Foreign Office experts decoded a Soviet note to the British Government.

At the same time British official circles expressed complete confidence that Russian support for the anti-aggression front would be won eventually, perhaps at conferences in Geneva next Monday between Foreign Secretary Viscount Halifax and Vladimir Potemkin, Soviet Foreign Vice-Commissar.

WANTS FULL ALLIANCE

An unofficial version of the note said that it criticized the British proposals on the ground they were not reciprocal and would leave Russia to defend single-handed an attack on the Baltic states of Lithuania, Estonia and Latvia. It stressed necessity for a full military alliance with Britain and France.

The proposal for a triple alliance with the Western democracies originally was put forward by Russia when France and Britain first began to line up independent European nations in an anti-aggression concert. Britain countered with the suggestion Russia reinsure Anglo-French guarantees to Poland and Rumania with the understanding that Soviet aid to those states would

MONEY ISSUE IS DISCUSSED

Social Credit Members Renew Demand for Issuance Of Debt-Free Currency

OTTAWA, May 15 (CP).—Issuance of debt-free money to finance Governmental undertakings rather than interest-bearing bonds was urged in the House of Commons today as Social Credit members continued their attack on a Government bill authorizing the borrowing of $750,000,000 for refunding and other purposes.

J. C. Landeryou (S.C., Calgary East) led off by proposing an amendment to the effect that $200,000,000 of the $750,000,000 be obtained by an issue of new money instead of borrowing. The C.C.F. members were not willing to go that far, and M. J. Coldwell (C.C.F., Rosetown-Biggar) proposed a sub-amendment to limit the issue to $100,000,000 and to provide that it should be issued within the present year.

While T. J. O'Neill (Lib., Kamloops) believed both proposals were out of order because similar matters were under discussion before the banking and commerce committee, he could see no reason why the

AMBASSADOR TO ENTER PROTEST

Britain Asks Japan to Explain Occupation of International Zone

LONDON, May 15 (CP).—The Government has instructed Ambassador Sir Robert Craigie to file a protest with the Japanese Foreign Office against occupation by Japanese marines of Kulangsu, the international zone near Amoy, the House of Commons was informed today.

"His Majesty's Ambassador at Tokio has been instructed to protest against this forcible interference with the municipal administration at Kulangsu," Richard Butler, Foreign Under-Secretary, declared.

Mr. Butler said that Great Britain was considering representations to Japan over the number of opium establishments operating in Shanghai "under Japanese control."

He said that thirty-eight such places now were operating in Shanghai and "licensed by the opium monopoly bureau, to which it is believed they each pay a monthly fee of some $500."

TWO MEN MEET END SUDDENLY

Farmer Killed by Lightning —Another Swept From Horse and Drowned

CALGARY, May 15 (CP).—Harold Whittaker, thirty-seven, of Eckville district, was killed by lightning late today and John Nichols, twenty-two, native of Watrous, Sask., was believed to have drowned while leading horses across Highwood River, sixteen miles west of High River.

Emerson Whittaker, a brother who was helping Harold string a wire fence as an electrical storm blew up, was in Eckville Hospital tonight suffering from burns. Dr. F. H. Coppock stated Emerson's condition was favorable.

The two brothers operated a farm north of Eckville, 115 miles northwest of Calgary.

HAT FOUND IN STREAM

Nichols, it was feared, was swept from a horse he was riding as he attempted to lead other horses across Highwood River, approximately fifty miles southeast of Calgary. His horse was found on the bank of the river and police recovered Nichols' hat down the stream.

At the time of the mishap Nichols was returning to the ranch of his employer, Willard Brockway, of Hartell, Alta., with horses from Alex Murdoch's farm. He had been working at the ranch only a week.

Council Refuses Daylight Saving

VANCOUVER, May 15 (CP).—City Council today said "no" to daylight saving time for Vancouver, but the scheme, though officially dead, was refused burial by leaders of the 12,660 citizens who voted in its favor in a plebiscite May 10. Opponents at that time numbered 12,652.

There was talk in City Hall circles of putting clocks ahead one hour in July and August on a trial basis if advocates of the scheme could win consent from its opponents.

SASKATCHEWAN FARM LEADER PASSES AWAY

SASKATOON, May 15 (CP).—A. J. Macauley, former president of the United Farmers of Canada, Saskatchewan section, and a member of the Saskatchewan Legislature from 1934 to 1938, died in hospital here tonight following an operation for a tumor on the brain. He was fifty-one.

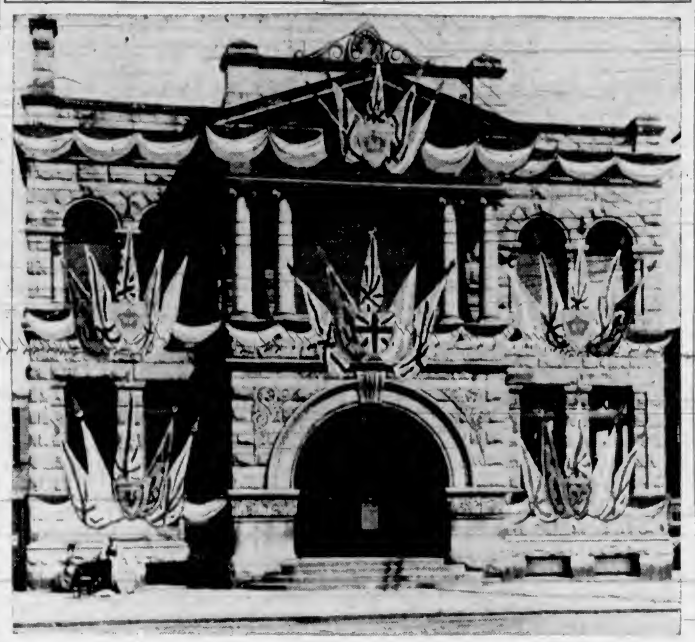

KING ZOG PROTESTS

GENEVA, May 15 (AP).—Fugitive King Zog of Albania protested to the League of Nations today against Italy's invasion of his country and declared he reserved his rights as ruler. The letter was delivered to the League secretariat by Prince Hussein, the King's nephew.

Swedish Flyer Off on Flight To Homeland

BANGOR, Me., May 15 (AP).—A young Swedish flyer, piloting what airport attaches called a "flying gas tank," took off here today for Newfoundland and the start of what he said would be a non-stop flight to his homeland.

Carl Backman, described by United States Airways observer James Dineen as "about twenty-seven years old," had 160 gallons of gasoline, no radio, a few sandwiches and a bottle of coffee when he hopped from Bangor Airport at 7.45 a.m. (E.S.T.) in a tiny Monocoupe.

TROOPS GUARD HARLAN MINES

End to Strike in Kentucky Coal Fields Seen as Operators Negotiate

HARLAN, Ky., May 15 (AP).—A definite break in the phalanx of Harlan operators opposing a new contract with John L. Lewis' United Mine Workers came tonight as more National Guard troops arrived to patrol additional mines expected to open tomorrow.

E. J. Asbury, superintendent of the Black Mountain Coal Corporation at Kenevir, a subsidiary of the Peabody Coal Corporation of Chicago, one of the largest mines in the county, said he would open separate negotiations with the union tomorrow. The corporation normally employs about 600 men.

The Black Mountain Corporation is not a member of the county association, but observers said the large number of men returning to work without National Guard troops, now on duty, would weaken the position of the other operators.

DESIRES VENGEANCE

At Philadelphia, John L. Lewis declared A. B. "Happy" Chandler, Kentucky Governor who summoned the militia on Sunday to stand guard while Harlan County mines were reopened, was actuated primarily by a desire for vengeance against the C.I.O., which opposed him, Lewis said, as a candidate for the United States Senate last Fall.

The Kentucky operators held out when others signed new agreements with the United Mine Workers in New York last week.

Will Not Take Over Policing Of Royal City

NEW WESTMINSTER, May 15 (CP).—New Westminster's police force will continue to enforce the law in this Fraser River city.

Attorney-General Gordon Wismer, in a communication to the city council, said today his department is not prepared to take over policing duties here, and therefore there is no object in going into the matter of costs.

Cost of the change was requested by the council after the question of replacing the city force with Provincial Police was discussed.

MAKING TOUR OF DEFENCES

German Chancellor Says Western Fortifications Are Impregnable

BERLIN, May 15 (AP).—Chancellor Hitler and senior officers, on a tour of inspection, today pronounced Germany's western frontier defences perfect and impregnable. Military authorities called the defence line the largest and most formidable in the world.

At the same time 25,000 Nazi advocates of a restoration of the colonial empire gathered in Vienna for a four-day convention.

Hitler, who arrived at Aachen on Sunday, was joined on his inspection tour of the western fortifications by Colonel-General Walther von Brauchitsch, chief of staff, the twenty leaders of departments of the Nazi Government and the forty district leaders of the regions into which Germany is divided for the purposes of party administration.

PURPOSE OF TOUR

Presence of leaders not only from every district of Greater Germany, including Austria and the Sudetenland, but also from Danzig, indicated the real purpose of the tour.

Every leader will return to his own region ready to assure any doubters that he has seen that no power can invade Germany from the West.

The Fuehrer's inspection tour, together with Premier Mussolini's praise of the Rome-Berlin axis as delivered at Turin yesterday, constituted the basis for every editorial writer in Germany today.

As far as Poland and Danzig are concerned, the inspection period is regarded by German authorities as "time for Poland to think things over," it was said.

MUSSOLINI AT TURIN

TURIN, Italy, May 15 (AP).—Premier Mussolini inaugurated a new military airport today at Caselle, within a short striking distance of France, and returned to Turin to-

WHEAT MEASURES PASSED BY HOUSE

Initial Return Fixed at 70 Cents a Bushel With 5,000-Bushel Limit for Benefit

OTTAWA, May 15 (CP).—After a final plea from Social Credit members for a higher price the House of Commons tonight gave third reading to the bill fixing the initial price for wheat this year at 70 cents a bushel, basis No. 1 Northern at Fort William.

The bill amends the Wheat Board Act by writing the initial price into the law whereas formerly it was set by the Cabinet on the advice of the board. It also limits the amount of wheat any farmer may deliver to the board to 5,000 bushels.

After passing the Wheat Board Amending Act, the House pushed the bulky revision of the Canada Grain Act through committee of the whole and third reading with a minimum of discussion. It makes numerous changes in the law governing grading, inspection and storage of grain.

Fisheries Committee Recommends Inquiry Into Traps Question

Minister Says Issue Should Be Settled by Royal Commission on Evidence Taken Under Oath—Would Abide by Findings of Commissioner

OTTAWA, May 15 (CP).—The marine and fisheries committee of the House of Commons today by unanimous vote accepted the recommendation of Hon. J. E. Michaud, Fisheries Minister, that it recommend to the House a Royal Commission investigation of the use of fish traps in the coastal area near Sooke, B.C.

Mr. Michaud said he believed one commissioner would be enough. If it were a three-man commission, the chairman would probably be the impartial member and make the decision in any case.

The seven British Columbia members were named a sub-committee to draft the terms of the reference, to the commissioner it is intended to appoint.

Only by obtaining evidence from those for and against the traps could the Minister reach a fair decision, said Mr. Michaud. A commission could take evidence from all interested parties under oath.

"My view would be to refer the matter to a judicial commissioner to be investigated as soon as the session closes so that the recommendations of the commissioner might be implemented at the next session," he said. "I will be satisfied and willing to abide by the recommendations."

DOMINION WARSHIPS WELCOME THE KING TO CANADIAN WATERS

Destroyers Steam to Meet Royal Flotilla and Take Up Positions as Part of Escort on Next-to-Last Stage of Royal Party's Voyage to Shores of Canada

Will Disembark at Quebec Early Wednesday Morning

ABOARD R.M.S. EMPRESS OF AUSTRALIA, May 15 (CP).—The King and Queen rode through Canadian waters tonight in the Empress of Australia, escorted by two Canadian and two British warships on the next-to-last stage of the Royal party's twelve-day voyage to Canada.

The Canadian destroyers Skeena and Saguenay, which had steamed out of Gaspe Bay early this morning, met the Empress at 1.20 p.m. (P.S.T.), just after the big liner and its convoy cruisers had passed Cape Ray on the southern tip of Newfoundland.

Crews of the destroyers manned ship and gave three cheers for His Majesty. The King reviewed the destroyers from the bridge of the Empress with the Queen standing at his side.

LEAD THE WAY

Then the Canadian warships circled wide and took up positions in front of the Empress, leading the way to Quebec where the King and Queen are to disembark Wednesday morning, two full days later than they originally intended. Following the review, His Majesty sent the following wireless message to the Skeena:

"It affords me great pleasure on entering Canadian waters to be greeted by my Canadian Navy. I thank you for the welcome you have given me and I congratulate you warmly on the fine appearance of your ships.—George R.I."

Pushing ahead at nineteen knots, with the Skeena off the liner's port bow and the Saguenay off the starboard bow, the Empress of Australia entered the Gulf of St. Lawrence from Cabot Strait early tonight on her schedule which will bring her a few miles below Quebec before midnight Tuesday.

Nazis and Other Foreign Political Bodies Dissolved

BUENOS AIRES, May 15 (AP).—President Roberto M. Ortiz issued a decree today making mandatory the dissolution of the German Nazi party and all other political organizations in Argentina which are directed from abroad. The presidential decree, followed an enquiry into Nazi activities in Argentina, ordered by Ortiz after publication of an alleged Nazi plan to annex Patagonia, southern tip of Argentina.

OLD QUEBEC DRESSES UP

QUEBEC, May 15 (CP).—Dressed up brilliantly in true French-Canadian style, ancient Quebec City is to give the King and Queen their initial welcome to Canada on Wednesday. A festive atmosphere pervaded the picturesque old capital of French Canada.

This city of 150,000 people was ablaze with decorations on a scale unknown in her 331-year history. Thousands of Union Jacks and Tricolor banners and streamers fluttered along the streets.

Excitement which gripped the population was in contrast with a general feeling of concern on Saturday when reports from the liner Empress of Australia bearing the Royal visitors told of uncertain progress.

REJOICE AT NEWS

Good news last night that Their Majesties would land at historic Wolfe's Cove on Wednesday and that there would be no changes other than postponement in their Quebec visit brought rejoicing.

Preparations for the welcome, previously at a standstill, were speeded up. Militia and police, who will see to the security of Their Majesties during their twenty-three-hour Quebec visit, rehearsed their important roles in the reception.

Plans for greetings to the King and Queen called for lighting of a long chain of bonfires which would be visible from the Empress of Australia as she sailed up-river towards Quebec Harbor and Wolfe's Cove. When the liner sails by, bells in churches of riverside villages will be rung.

In Levis, across the St. Lawrence from Quebec City, plans were com-

Moved Out And Took All Her Family

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J., May 15 (AP).—Fidele di Parsio told the Court of Chancery today that when he married his second wife, Carmelo, in 1928, he had seventeen children and she had eleven by a previous husband.

He said the twenty-eight children annoyed each other and had a similar effect on their respective step parents, until, finally, five months later, the second Mrs. Di Parsio, "loaded her children on a truck with some furniture and moved to Philadelphia."

Di Parsio seeks a divorce on grounds of desertion.

Recommend B.C. Man to Washington

SEATTLE, May 15 (AP).—President Guy E. Dunning said today the Washington Prison Association had recommended Angus McLeod, head of British Columbia's "wall-less" boys' correctional home, to take charge of a similar Washington State institution, authorized by the last Legislature. The recommendation was sent to Finance Director Olaf Q. Olson, who will direct establishment of the new home.

ALBERTA FIRES GROW SERIOUS

Many Outbreaks Raging Out Of Control—Timber in North Damaged

EDMONTON, May 15 (CP).—Lack of rain and strong winds combined to keep Alberta's forest fire situation serious tonight. J. A. Hutchison, assistant Alberta director of forestry, said the fire hazard "remained unchanged or a little worse."

Fires in Crown timber, northwest, southwest and west of Edmonton, were reported following the dry week-end. New outbreaks and old ground fires, fanned into flame over the week-end, remained out of control.

In the Fort Assiniboine district, 100 miles northwest of Edmonton, timber fires threatened scattered settlements, and six Government ranger crews, aided by hundreds of settlers, were fighting the flames.

BURNING OUT OF CONTROL

Brush fires in the Eagle Hills district, west of Olds, were burning out of control, but it was believed no farmhomes were endangered.

New outbreaks were reported from the Carrot Creek and Rocky Mountain House areas, west and southwest of Edmonton. Other forest fires were burning in the Winfield-Breton district and along the Athabaska Highway.

Mr. Hutchison was unable to estimate the value of Crown timber already destroyed this year, but he believed the total would be high.

Britain to Announce New Palestine Policy In House Tomorrow

Would Drop Any Obligation to Facilitate Jewish Immigration After Five Years—New Independent State in Decade Is Objective

LONDON, May 15 (AP).—Great Britain was said by a reliable source tonight to have decided to free herself in 1944 from any obligation to facilitate further Jewish immigration into Palestine.

This source said that the decision would be announced in the White Paper on Palestine, which Prime Minister Chamberlain disclosed today would be issued on Wednesday.

The informant said the new policy would be designed to take effect five years from date of publication of the White Paper.

With immigration as the keystone of the new policy, the Government was said to be proposing establishment within a decade of a new independent state in which the ratio of Jews to Arabs never would exceed forty to sixty.

During the first five years the British Government will allow 50,000 Jewish immigrants, with an additional 25,000 refugees made up mainly of children—if the High

BLOW FATAL TO ILLINOIS HEIR

Prominent Chicago Man Dies In Florida—Was Injured on Saturday

SARASOTA, Fla., May 15 (AP).—Potter D'Orsay Palmer died in hospital here today shortly after Sheriff C. J. Hutches said Kenneth Nosworthy, a young meat cutter, had acknowledged striking the oft-married Chicago heir at a picnic last week.

Palmer died at 5.30 p.m. from a cerebral hemorrhage which Dr. David Kennedy said was caused by a "terrific blow" on the head. He was brought to the hospital on Saturday.

Hutches said that Nosworthy came voluntarily to the sheriff's office in nearby Bradenton today shortly after the gravity of Palmer's condition became known and admitted striking the socially prominent Chicagoan "one time with my fist" at a barbecue picnic near Bradenton last Thursday.

TAUNTED AND STRUCK

W. M. Smiley, assistant state attorney, reported Nosworthy claimed the blow was struck "after Palmer had taunted him all afternoon and struck at him with a bottle."

No charges were lodged against the Bradenton man and he was not detained pending completion of the officers' investigation.

Palmer's fourth wife, the former Pluma Louise Lowery, Abatello, a former waitress, was at the hospital throughout the day, as were his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Honore Palmer.

OREGON MOUNTAIN FIRE DISASTROUS

Virgin Timber, Logs, Equipment And Loggers' Homes Destroyed Near Portland

PORTLAND, Ore., May 15 (AP).—A thunderstorm splashed forest fires with raindrops over Southern Oregon today, as a blaze went out of control on Round Top Mountain in the Coast Range.

Temperatures over the state retreated from sizzling levels of Saturday and Sunday, but general showers, predicted for Western sections, failed to end the sixty-one-day drought.

The fire covered about 2,000 acres of land, burned two million feet of virgin timber a million feet of logs, equipment worth $1,500 and the homes of three loggers.

Thinks Royal Visit Will Stimulate New Interest in Canada

Hon. W. J. Asselstine, Minister of Mines, Trade and Industry, Says Attention Will be Focused On Dominion—May Provide Capital for Mines

"I FIRMLY believe the visit of Their Majesties will stimulate new interest in Canada; the provinces will realize this, and we will all hold firmly together in building up a stronger and greater Dominion of Canada," Hon. W. J. Asselstine, Minister of Mines and Trade and Industry, said in addressing the annual meeting of the Chamber of Commerce.

The gathering was held yesterday in Spencer's dining-room with Duncan MacBride, recently returned for a second term as chairman of the board of directors, presiding.

Mr. Asselstine felt that the prominence to be given to Canada would attract new attention by financial circles of Britain in mining development of this Dominion, and result in an influx of much-needed capital. Already English companies have started camps in British Columbia, the minister added.

TRACES DEVELOPMENT

In his address, the guest speaker traced the history of gold mining in this province and its relation to industrial development.

There was a shortage of prospects and prospectors in British Columbia, Mr. Asselstine stated. Prospecting syndicates in the East had assured the minister they would establish companies within the province when transportation was developed in the northern section. Lack of transportation was a great handicap to mining development here, the speaker declared.

In order to help fill the demand for prospectors the Provincial Government was now conducting a school, in which some 100 boys were enrolled.

SHOW PROMISE

"Twenty per cent of these boys show promise as prospectors, continued Mr. Asselstine. With the co-operation of mine operators the youths will be given field courses and assigned to new districts. The agreement with the mining companies to employ the boys covers a three-year period, and is a step in co-operation with industry, he claimed.

Development of specific properties was outlined by the speaker, who praised several companies for their research work to develop the industry in the face of tremendous odds. One corporation is manufacturing cast iron and steel for use in its own plant.

Mr Asselstine was introduced by the chairman and the thanks of the members was expressed by Harold Husband, past president of the chamber.

PUBLIC APPEAL

A public appeal for housing accommodation for the crowds of visitors expected here during the Royal visit was made by Mr. MacBride, who also gave a brief summary of activities of the chamber during the past year. Persons having available accommodation were requested to communicate with the Chamber of Commerce office.

The chairman announced that the city organization would be host to the annual meeting of the Associated Boards of Trade of Vancouver Island on June 21 and 22.

He thanked the members for the honor paid him in his re-election as president of the chamber for a second term and appealed for the continued co-operation of all members in activities of the group.

FRIENDLY RELATIONS

Friendly relations have been maintained between the chamber and the Federal, Provincial and Municipal Governments, Mr. McBride reported. During the past year, he said the chamber had expressed itself in favor of the continuation of fish traps at Sooke and still held that opinion.

J. H. Hill and J. A. Greenidge were re-elected auditors for the ensuing year.

George I. Warren, secretary, submitted a report of the principal activities engaged in by the chamber during the past twelve months. Aviation problems were handled by an active committee, while another committee was pressing for the completion of the West Coast Road.

OTHER QUESTIONS

The directors also assisted in an amicable settlement of the unemployed demonstrations last July, Mr. Warren said. Attention was given to the transportation question, and action by the board of directors resulted in the resumption of the ferry service between Brentwood and Mill Bay.

In connection with the Royal visit, the chamber had carried on a housing canvass to secure accommodation for visitors expected in the city. Other activities included work of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, the Tourist Trade Group and the Retail Merchants' section.

Princess Pats Parade at Cenotaph

AFTER the annual church parade to Christ Church Cathedral on Sunday to commemorate the Battle of Fresenberg on May 8, 1915, in which the P.P.C.L.I. took a gallant part, "B" Company, the Victoria unit of the regiment, under Major J. N. Edgar, M.C., marched to the Cenotaph, where Lieut.-Colonel A. Hamilton Gault, D.S.O., E.D., the founder and a former officer commanding the regiment, laid a wreath. Colonel Gault, who now lives in England, has been attending a series of battalion functions in Winnipeg, and flew over from Vancouver on Saturday evening in order to attend the church parade. The service, at which Bishop Sexton delivered the sermon, was attended by a number of ex-members of the regiment and other war veterans. After leaving the Cenotaph, Colonel Gault took the salute as "B" Company passed the front of the Empress Hotel. Top: "B" Company, preceded by ex-members under Lieut.-Colonel M. R. Ten Broeke, M.C., a former C.O., arriving at the Cenotaph. Centre: During the two-minute silence at the Cenotaph. Left: Colonel Gault saluting after laying the wreath.

SHIPMENT LEFT CITY FOR CHINA

The monthly shipment by the Committee for Medical Aid for China was dispatched for the Orient on Saturday, and contained one case of clothes for refugees and four cases of bandages, dressings, masks, caps, and other surgical requirements. Some hundreds of dressings and two and one-half dozen large rolls of hospital medicated cotton were also sent.

One hundred dollars in Canadian currency was forwarded for medical supplies. Collections from money boxes in Chinese fruit stores this month totaled almost $65.

The China Defence League to which consignments are sent, supports the following projects: International Peace Hospital, International Orthopaedic Hospital, Emergency Medical Training School of the Chinese Red Cross, New Fourth Army Medical Service, Yenan Field Hospital, China Defence League Orphanage and the Chinese Industrial Co-operatives.

An appeal is again made for material for bandages. Sheets, pillow cases, tablecloths, or any clean, white material, two feet or over in length may be used and will be called for if donors will telephone E 4725 between 2 and 5 p.m., when the rooms at 1426 Government Street are open.

WORLD NEEDS VISION TODAY

Col. G. W. Peacock Points Way for Service Among Gyro Club Members

"I am proud to be a Canadian by birth," said Col. George W. Peacock, head of the Salvation Army in Canada, Newfoundland, Alaska and Bermuda, in addressing the Gyro Club yesterday. Referring to the wealth of the country, the speaker declared that it was not the natural resources of which native Canadians should feel the most pride, but rather the Dominion's men, for it was they who built a nation. Men would be great only as they were great in thinking, and in vision, and possessed the great attributes of nobility and uprightness of character.

It was vision, Colonel Peacock said, that caused men to move out of the obscure ways of life and become useful members of the service clubs and of their day and generation in the world. The great thinkers of the world were those who laid their all on the altar of service.

In this connection he referred to General Booth, the founder of the Salvation Army. He was glad, he said, to address the Gyros, who had been friends of the work which the Army was doing throughout the country. The various service clubs were referred to by the speaker as efficient workers in the cause of mankind, and for better things. All of them made for better international understandings, and for the fostering of good will among the nations of the world.

MOBILIZING FORCE

There were some men who did not last long in these organizations, Colonel Peacock continued. This was because they lacked the vision so necessary in work of this kind. These became shirkers, and not workers. The mobilizing force in service work was vision.

The speaker urged upon members of the club the value of work among the youth of the country. If they were to keep the youth from the penitentiaries they must foster the playground. Boys must be lifted from lower things to higher planes. What was done today was building for to morrow. It had been truly said: "When vision was lacking, the people perish."

The speaker was introduced by Brigadier Matthew Junker, of Vancouver, and Harold L. Butteris, who has social work relations with Colonel Peacock, proposed the vote of thanks.

CANADIAN SHIPS WELCOME KING

In the St. Lawrence River, on the north side of the Isle of Orleans or just below the island, the Empress will cast anchor overnight and steam into Quebec Wednesday for the official welcome to the King and Queen in Wolfe's Cove.

Canada's first formal welcome to Their Majesties on the high seas was a dramatic occasion. The liner, her big Royal Standard floating high above the decks, was in Cabot Strait. Cape Anguille, on the western tip of Newfoundland was visible on the starboard side and St Paul's Island could be discerned on the port.

The approaching destroyers were sighted at 4 50 on the western horizon. They appeared as tiny specks in the sparkling sunlight. There was hardly a ripple on the water. The British cruisers Glasgow and Southampton and the liner prepared to receive the Canadian warships, and Vice-Admiral Sir Dudley North, in command of the Royal Squadron, signalled the courses the destroyers were to follow to pass the Empress on the starboard side.

WATCH FROM BRIDGE

With the Skeena leading and the Saguenay three cable lengths behind, the destroyers came up fast, throwing water over their bows. From the flying bridge on the topmost deck, the King and Queen watched as they steamed past.

After the cheering from the decks of the Canadian ships, Sir Dudley North ordered a flag signal run up, saying: "Form part of the Royal escort." This was followed by further flag signals telling the destroyers the positions they were to assume.

After His Majesty had signalled his message of thanks and congratulations to the warships, the following message was received from the Skeena:

"Request you will convey the following message to His Majesty the King: Officers and ship's company of the Skeena and Saguenay thank His Majesty for his gracious signal. We could have no greater honor or pleasure than in welcoming Your Majesties to Canadian waters."

BRILLIANT SUNSHINE

The King and Queen remained for some time on the bridge after the destroyers had taken their stations, enjoying the brilliant sunshine. Today's weather was the most enjoyable since the voyage began.

The Empress of Australia, moving at top speed since leaving behind fog and ice yesterday, covered 419 miles in the twenty-four-hour period up to noon. That was her best showing on the trip.

The Empress is expected to reach Gaspe, near the mouth of the St Lawrence River, at 1 p.m. (P.S.T.) tomorrow. She would pass Rimouski about noon and Murray Bay about 3 30 p.m.

Reserves Judgment On Validity of Milk Marketing Proposal

Injunction to Prevent Inauguration of Clearing-House System on Lower Mainland Continued by Supreme Court Justice Pending Decision

VANCOUVER, May 15 (?).—Mr. Justice H. B. Robertson, in Supreme Court late today, reserved judgment on validity of a proposed clearing-house system of milk marketing for the British Columbia Lower Mainland district and continued an injunction which prevents inauguration of the scheme pending his decision.

John L. Farris, counsel for a group of independent producers and distributors, said that there were two branches to the action, one claiming the Milk Producers' Clearing House Co-operative Association is illegal and ultra vires because it contravenes the Co-operative Associations Act of 1936, and the other claiming certain orders of the Lower Mainland Dairy Products Board are ultra vires.

Mr. Farris said that W. E. Williams, chairman of the Milk Board, "admitted" that the association was going to carry on as a pool association. He claimed that none of the requirements of Section 27 of the Co-operative Associations Act regarding election of directors for the clearing house had been complied with.

AS SINGLE AGENCY

Mr. Williams said that the clearing house was intended to act as a single agency under orders of the Milk Board, and to engage in the business of buying and selling, and received jurisdiction by order-in-council under the Province's Natural Products Marketing Act.

Earlier at today's hearing, Mr. Williams claimed the clearing house did not attempt to carry on as a pool association, and that the election of directors was carried out in accordance with rules of the clearing house. He did not think that provisions of the Co-operative Associations Act relating to elections were applicable.

He said that the producer is not bound to market through the clearing house, but added that he can not market elsewhere.

COMPELLING AUTHORITY

"It is a compelling authority," Mr. Justice Robertson observed. "The milk man can't afford to leave his milk standing on the side of the road."

Mr. Williams claimed that the certificate of incorporation, granted the Co-operative Association on January 19, 1939, was conclusive evidence that the requirements of the Provincial statute had been complied with.

RELIEF PLANS UNDER REVIEW

Provincial Government Expecting Early Settlement Of Indigent Costs

Settlement of the question of indigent costs on municipalities was being expected shortly in provincial circles, yesterday, where it was intimated that negotiations were proceeding between Ottawa and the Provincial Government. Hon. G. S. Pearson, meanwhile, said the Province would reach a decision in a day or two respecting Summer works projects and unemployment relief plans.

The mines training scheme, launched a few weeks ago at Emory Creek, was reported in full swing, with between 100 and 150 young men applying for such training. The ordinary course will be followed by more intensive training for those desiring to take up prospecting as a calling.

Hon. W. J. Asselstine recently inspected the Emory Creek camp, which was used last year for the same purpose.

PLAIN SPEAKING

Whatever may be the final outcome of recommendations to be made by the Senate Railway Committee, now in its second year of studying Canada's railway losses, Senator Meighen will have earned the respect of all thinking people by his blunt stand in favor of adequate action now. With continuing deficits on the government-owned system reported at $54,440,000 last year, it becomes a matter of national interest to find a remedy, and find it soon.

Savings from the temporary five-year plan of co-operation have amounted to about $2,000,000 a year; compared with estimates varying from $56,000,000 to $75,000,000 yearly believed to be attainable from unification of the managements of the C.P.R. and the C.N.R. The delay of a whole year, from last session to this, has done little but emphasize the need for constructive action, in the light of a situation which can only grow worse. Senator Meighen, laying separate proposals before the committee, both pointed to the need, and suggested a remedy.

A solution, he said, was required from the standpoint of Canada's credit, and in the best interests of all of the people. As there was little likelihood of earnings recovering fast enough to perform miracles, reduction of losses through unified control alone could be counted on to induce practical savings of any order relative to the deficits incurred, and still being accumulated at the rate of $1,000,000 a week. Temporizing or delay in such a position could only aggravate the case, and render ultimate solution still more difficult.

Senator Meighen, who himself abandoned party lines in making that recommendation for the suggested support of the committee, met the objection of monopoly control by stating frankly cut-throat competition had induced the complaint in the first place, and that any monopoly created would itself be controlled in the interests of the whole country. He avoided statements of fabulous savings to be made under this or any plan, but said both railways now had proof that substantial savings could be brought about, and could be apportioned fairly between both systems.

Under unified management, but with distinct operations, both systems would benefit from pooled services, avoidance of unprofitable duplication, the lessened demands from unified capital requirements, and elimination of much of the expense and waste that grew from rivalry without economic advantage, either to the railways or the people at large. The question of retirements of staff, Senator Meighen said, could be faced in the same manner as had been done successfully in Great Britain. Actual operating savings could be apportioned in relation to net revenues of the past, and joint savings shared evenly between the two systems.

The Senate Railway Committee did not accept Senator Meighen's plan, which had the backing of Conservative followers on the panel, but some difficulty will be experienced in setting it altogether aside. Able, forthright and entirely non-partizan, his recommendations have carried full weight with the people. For an even-minded appraisal of one of the real problems of the country, the dissenting report before the Senate committee was outstandingly fair, and pointed once again to the necessity for action now. Facts are stubborn things.

STRENGTHEN THE SEARCH

British Columbia is pre-eminently a province of natural resources. Government reports annually bear witness to the value of development in a number of lines, the production of minerals being always among the higher figures. Healthful as the published returns show the metal industry to be, it is no stretch of the imagination to believe the yearly output will increase considerably if ways and means can be devised for assuring a continual search for wanted minerals. So far the hills of British Columbia have had only cursory attention, and no man can begin to estimate their hidden secrets.

This hidden wealth must ever remain so, unless intelligent steps are taken to reveal it. There is little sense in advertising the possibilities of our mineral resources and creating false hope at the same time in the mind of every man who has a liking for a life in the open spaces. What British Columbia really requires to prospect her unexplored areas are more men of experience—gained either in the hard practical school or through a course of study under a competent teacher, the advantage being wholly with the man having first-hand knowledge.

There was a time in the frontier history of British Columbia when hundreds of experienced prospectors roamed its hills. Most of those old-time prospectors knew something of the practical geology of the cordillera and its flanking mountain chains, and had a knowledge of the rock formations in which minerals were most likely to be found. It was the old-time prospectors who discovered the makings of British Columbia's greatest mines, and undoubtedly others would have been uncovered if the stories of gold in the Klondike had not intervened. The appeal was too strong for them. They abandoned British Columbia and trekked north to the Yukon, where most of them either found wealth or a resting-place.

British Columbia has all the ear-marks of being a great mineral producing territory for years to come. Its increased production will always depend upon the calibre of men who search out its mineral secrets, however. At one time there was some incentive for a man to acquire a worth-while knowledge of prospecting. If he happened to locate a claim showing promise he was almost certain to get a down-payment. Today, he wouldn't get a nickel in advance of development, no matter how good his prospect looked. For the same reason, the old-time grubstaker is not in evidence any more.

For the continued welfare of the mining industry in British Columbia, it is essential to have trained men in the hills while the seasons are favorable for prospecting. The British Columbia Department of Mines evidently realizes that the future of metal production depends upon the finding of new prospects. Whether the suggestion made by Dr. J. F. Walker, deputy minister of mines, a few days since will be adopted will depend upon the mining companies who are asked to contribute $500,000 to a fund to be expended instructing men in the a, b,c's of prospecting. The suggestion is timely.

The need for men versed in mineralogy and geology will become more acute as time passes. The future of the mining industry in British Columbia depends largely upon some more equitable arrangement whereby the man who endures the hardships of a prospector's life will be assured of the wherewithal to finance himself, pending the finding of a mineral deposit, and at the same time be assured of assistance in developing the mine afterwards.

RIGHT SIDE UP

As Victoria prepares for the Royal visit, it will become a question for nice decisions by merchants, residents and others as to what form the decorations should take. Probably the safest plan would be to consult provincial or civic authorities in unusual cases. If the decoration of the city and its surrounding municipalities can be achieved on a more or less uniform plan, then a great deal more result will be secured for the outlay.

In so far as possible, bunting should be used for draping and general decoration; and flags flown as they should be, right side up. The Union Jack becomes a distress signal when flown up-side-down; and the mistake is one easy enough to make. It is a matter of plain good taste, too, to preserve flags from torturous indignities of drapery; letting them fly distinct and visible by themselves, or else in strings.

While chief attention is apt to be paid along the route of the procession, flags and bunting will not be found amiss in any part of the community. The occasion, as is obvious, is a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity to display the loyality and, affection of the people by any and all means that are fitting. The case is one for wholehearted and united effort, which, if properly coordinated, can make a memorable showing.

One result of the Royal visit that may be predicted with certainty is that Canada and the Canadian scene will enjoy a wider Empire press than they have ever known before. If that lead is followed up by wider dissemination of Empire news among all Dominions in the future, permanent and constructive good will come of it. Even today, it is difficult to learn what is happening all along the wide chain of countries forming the British Commonwealth of Nations. News to be profitable must be deeper than the surface, from the long-range point of view.

Opened in the presence of an international gathering of astronomers, the new eighty-two inch telescope of the McDonald Observatory on Mount Locke was dedicated this month, and will go immediately into service. It is typical of the times that even this great instrument will be far eclipsed in range by the 200-inch telescope, mountings, for which are being installed in California. If men shared all their knowledge as do astronomers, the world's troubles would be lessened.

Nations that see war behind every bush are like a small dog "hunting cougars"; they don't really want to find the animal!

Trust that man in nothing who has not a conscience in everything.—Laurence Sterne.

"So you are the new reporter, are you?"

"Yes, sir."

"That's fine. Now, there are a few things you must know before you start. For instance, what is the stalest thing in the world?"

"What happened yesterday."

"Very good. Now tell me: if a man breaks his leg in the woods, and an airplane is sent to bring him in to hospital, what would you say?"

"Intrepid airman leaves on mercy flight."

"Quite so. But how now if the chap is on a freighter, and a doctor is asked for from a passing liner?"

"Medico rides the waves on mercy mission."

"Very good, indeed. Now suppose a physician sits up three nights, saving the life of a pneumonia patient?"

"No story."

"Young man, you have prospects! Now then, supposing it is a dull day, Nobody is moving or talking or anything, see? What would you do for news?"

"Call up the Liquor Board and ask it if it's true that it is going to make a drastic reduction in the price of the wares."

"Splendid. And supposing the Board says it is not?"

"Liquor Board officials denied today there was any basis for reports indicating immediate action to bring about a drastic downward revision in the price of beer, light wines, and other stocks."

"Excellent. And how would you follow that up?"

"I would interview the commissioners, and get a quoted statement expressing surprise that such a rumor could have got started; and making significant guesses as to the objects of those who would say such a thing."

"Son, you have promise. Now tell me, what would you say if it were a busy day, crammed with copy, and a major fire breaks out in the outskirts of the city?"

"Shortly before going to press a small fire started in the northeastern outskirts of the town. Though details were not available, fire captains said they had the flames under control."

"Very good. Now supposing it is a light day, and the fire is on the roof of a tumbled down shack in an open field. What then?"

"Shortly before going to press, a fire of unknown proportions was reported raging in .. wooden structure at Fifteen Acres, a historic old landmark of the town. Flames shooting from the roof drew immense crowds to the scene, as firemen worked feverishly to subdue the blaze. If the wind changes there will be grave danger of the flames spreading with consequences which cannot be foretold."

"Oh, you have worked on some paper before. But tell me, what is it called when two cars come together and nobody is hurt?"

"Crack-up shakes occupants."

"If, say, a man is hurt in one of them?"

"Man meets fate, riding to lunch."

"If two people are cut by flying glass?"

"Disaster overtakes prominent business executives."

"Should there be three persons injured?"

"Holocaust shakes town. Worst tragedy in years rocks community, leaving gloom in its wake."

"Now then, as to earthquakes. What is important?"

"Call the observatory. Ascertain how many miles away the epicentre. Under 5,000 miles it is an earthquake. Over 5,000 miles it is a series of temblors, ground shocks, earth waves, or terrestial convulsions pointing to disaster at a distance."

"Very good. Now, before you go to work there is one thing, young man, that I must impress upon you. Never, under any circumstances, exaggerate. When in doubt, leave out. Avoid hackneyed expressions."

"Yes, sir."

"Very good. Oh, by the way, I want you to slip over to McNulty Street. There is a dog there that carried a bone to a pup with a broken paw. Head it: 'Canine Leaves On Mercy Mission.' Beat it."

The time used is Pacific Standard for the 120th Meridian west. It is counted from 0 to 24 hours from midnight to midnight. The figures for height serve to determine high water from low water. Where blanks occur in the table, the tide rises or falls continuously during two successive tidal periods without turning.

The height is in feet and tenths of a foot, measured from the average level of low water.

To find the depth of low water on the sill of the Esquimalt Drydock, add 18.9 feet.

Whale Caught in Fishermen's Net

ASTORIA, Ore., May 15 (AP).—The first whale ever snagged with a Columbia River gillnet was towed into shallow water here after a three-hour pull by Tom Jorgenson and William Mattila.

Their victory was not without its cost for they lost fifteen fathoms of net in snaring the thirty-five-foot mammal.

Ed Has His Day

Ed, of the Gorge, is good-natured enough to stand the barrage of daily chaffing that tumbles upon his 200 pounds of brawn and muscle. Not long ago a friend remarked: "I've often heard you claim that you run things at home. Your better half says the only things you run are the furnace and washing machine." In Ed's palmy days he belonged to the upper crust, but unfortunately it crumbled. Last month he took up golf at Cedar Vale. It is rumored that he carries a hoe and rake in his bag to replace the divots. Ed's weight used to go up and down, but now there is no down. Several months ago his doctor put him on a diet when Ed found he could not get a seventeen neck into a fifteen collar. After a short trial, Ed complained that the diet was adding to his weight, instead of scaling him dpwn to a silhouette. "But that is impossible. If you had followed the diet, under ordinary circumstances, you should have lost at least ten pounds," the medico blustered. "That is what you think." Ed replied. "I ate my regular four meals per day along with that fancy diet you prescribed, but it did me no good." Ed has not had much success with his garden. He sowed fifteen pounds of grass seed, and watched the robins grow fat. His antidote for Spring fever is a tank full of gasoline and four good tires.—G.B.

Thetis Lakes Park

Evidence of public appreciation of the improvements which have been made during the past several years at Thetis Lakes Park was to be found on Sunday in the large crowds which visited the beautiful watering spot. It is difficult to estimate the number of persons who enjoyed the shady walks, the clear water bathing and the sylvan nooks among mossy rocks. Certainly the number exceeded 2,000 persons by a wide margin. Much as the facilities for motor parking were expanded during the past Winter they were entirely inadequate at mid-afternoon. The bathing floats were taxed to their limit and the road between the Park and the Island Highway was much too narrow and rough for comfortable use by motor and pedestrian traffic. The money and effort that has been put into making a park out of the city-owned former watershed have been well worth while. Improvement of the connecting road would add to the pleasure of a visit there.—H.C.M.

Vandals at Work

Strolling along the Causeway recently we were somewhat provoked to see the tourist guide map, erected across from Humbolt Street very neatly defaced—no doubt the artistic accomplishment of some "half-witted" vandal. Of course, what spoils the whole map is the fact that the downtown streets have scratched off until their locations and identification is impossible. No trouble was taken to mark up the residential districts, which probably do not interest the majority of visitors anyway. If the sponsors of the sign haven't lost faith in Victorians, or whoever might have done the damage, we should suggest that the guide be replaced if repairing is impossible. In its present condition the guide map only reflects poorly on the city and is of little use to tourists. —W.I.F.

Glancing Over Sport

Met Lynn Patrick, member of the New York Rangers hockey squad, for the first time since his return to the city at the Colwood Golf Club last week. He was playing with Kenny Lawson. Al Reynolds and a chap named Wightman. Lynn told the boys at the "nineteenth" about the fight Muzz, his younger brother, had with the famous Eddie Shore, veteran defence star of the Boston Bruins, Stanley Cup winners. Lynn states that Muzz and Lester will be home shortly. Betty Jamieson, queen of the Texas fairways and runner-up last year in the P.N.W. women's golf tournament, will be at Uplands for this year's meet and will be one of the favorites.

When you are making your selection for golf championship don't pass up this lady answering by the name of "Irs. Rosa-Hocking, runner-up in the British Columbia meet at Colwood last Saturday. She hits a ball as far as anybody in the Northwest and is capable of giving anybody in the field a battle from start to finish. Kenny Lawson, former winner of the British Columbia golf academ is back in his stride again. On Sunday he won the medal test in the club meet at Colwood with a brilliant 68. In his warm-up round on Saturday he had a smart 72.—J.D.

CANCER RESEARCH

Sir,—Condemnation of experimental research on animals is often expressed, because it has failed so far to discover the cause of or the cure for cancer. While the dark mystery of cancer has not yet been solved, much valuable work has been done.

In laboratory research extending over twenty-five years, Dr. Maud Slye, of the University of Chicago, selecting the mouse as her subject (an animal that everyone cheerfully tries to exterminate by means of cat, trap and poison), has made an outstanding contribution to the knowledge of cancer.

The facts established so far by Dr. Slye, who is the leading proponent in the field of cancer genetics, appear to be that from the point of view of heredity cancer susceptibility is a recessive, not a dominant characteristic; that it is confined to one gene; and that this characteristic, as an hereditary factor, can be, and in laboratory experiments has been, completely eliminated. Dr. Slye also claims to have proved that cancer susceptibility alone is not sufficient to bring about the disease, but that hereditary predisposition and irritation are both needed to produce cancer.

The theory generally accepted today appears to be in accordance with these findings, namely, that without previous chronic irritation cancer does not exist, and that susceptibility to specific cancers may be inherited.

Other research workers, notably Otto Warburg, in Europe, and Dr. Elice McDonald, of the University of Pennsylvania, have added immeasurably to the knowledge of cancer by their independent study of the cancer cell in its reactions with sugar, the conclusions being that the cancer cell as an energy adapter follows a different mechanism from normal, and that ultimately the metabolism of the cell holds the key to the riddle of cancer growth.

In addition to cancer-producing irritants now definitely known, such as arsenic, coal-tar, X-ray, soot and others, it has been discovered that cancer-producing chemicals are liberated in the human body, one such being set free by the nervous system while another is to be found in the bile acid of the body.

It has been announced by research workers that one of these two chemicals combined with a protein has been used with some measure of success in cancer immunizing experiments on mice or rats.

It should never be forgotten, however, that there are many spontaneous cures, even of so-called hopeless cases (see an article in a recent issue of the magazine, Faith), where through regenerative or other processes Nature restores to the organism a normal metabolism and the cancer disappears.

One prominent physician has expressed it as his opinion that, since Nature's method is to keep the cells of the body on the defensive, there may be formed in the tissues and passed into the blood certain antibodies capable of resolving the tumor and effecting a cure without external aid; and that when cancer laboratories fully understand the metabolic processes involved in these spontaneous recoveries they may have found the cure for cancer.

ENGLAND AND THE ORIENT

Sir,—Those in the Mother Country and Overseas who have disagreed with the policy of the present British Government—and they are not a few—have noted two degrees of divergence from the traditional, a negative and a positive.

There has been not only inaction when evil is openly at work, but further an actual propitiation of the wrongdoers.

The former is non-committal and might conceivably be held to cover a disapproval of the criminals. But the positive friendly relations with them, the condonation which followed, is a horse of another color.

Just as there has been a technique of aggression beginning with a newspaper campaign of slander and abuse directed against the intended victim, so also the British retreat have their own methods. There have been first obscure, incredible hints of what is coming, then a leading newspaper has been apparently used as "a trial balloon," making suggestions off its own bat, as in the cases of Spain, Czecho-Slovakia and, last, even Poland. The Colonies and Poland have not been thrown over, for public opinion, which the Government has to consider, is now on the alert. But in the former cases the leading articles were birds of evil omen, true prophets of a dangerous policy of opportunism. So much for the West.

Forewarned is forearmed, and we now detect the first whispers of a similar line of action in the East.

The interminable wrangling with Russia about the terms of a combination to withstand aggression is really due to British distaste for Bolshevism, and Russia's natural distrust and resentment of England previously ignoring her and letting down other states under attack.

This stalemate is now involved in an indirect repercussion in the East. Japan has had China at her mercy for years, but is not through with the job yet. She has been carrying on under the noses of Britain, France, Russia and America, and no one has said her nay. Latterly her position has been buttressed by an understanding with Germany and Italy. Now she learns with anxiety that Russia and England have begun pourparlers. So what? Together they might clamp down on her Chinese activities. She therefore threatens open military action with the dictators, unless Anglo-Russian agreement is confined to the Occident.

And now the British ambassador is under instruction to assure Japan of British friendliness! There will be no united action in the East. China, the underdog, like Abyssinia, like Spain, like Bohemia, is apparently beneath consideration.

Why say more?

The British Government, here also, still clings to its old tendency, uncorrected. For, let it be plainly stated, not only justice, but expediency in British interests, points to some form of support for China, not an approach to the aggressor, as the right and true course.

To us, on the Pacific Coast this seems clear enough.

NAPOLEON ON CONSCRIPTION

Sir,—One of the most interesting books of the present century is "With Napoleon in Russia," by the late General de Caulaincourt, Duke of Vicenza, a very gallant soldier who was Napoleon's personal aide-de-camp during the disastrous Russian foray. Pitchforked into the Royal Cuirassiers at the age of fourteen, young Caulaincourt was brevetted 2nd lieutenant at the age of fifteen and a half, and at the age of twenty-nine was a veteran of thirteen campaigns, and had been wounded several times. When Napoleon realized that the burning of Moscow had literally cooked his goose, he gave orders to Caulaincourt to prepare to accompany him in the historical flight to Paris, just the two of them plus a few couriers who were to ride ahead and prepare relays of horses at designated inns.

It was during this flight that Napoleon unburdened himself to his aide, who wrote it all down at great sacrifice in the terribly bitter weather. His notes, of course, were written at each stopping place when Napoleon would be supping or resting at an inn. Thus of conscription Napoleon told Caulaincourt:

"I agree that conscription is a law that bears harshly upon families on account of the frequent calls which circumstances have caused me to make; but it is national, because it allows of neither privilege nor exception. In times of peace it will even become popular, for the French love the career of arms and as the door to promotion is open to ability and courage an honorable career will thereby be opened to many young men. In this, as in so many things, the appreciation of principles of equality gives strength to the movement and insures success to the levies. If I granted exemption to one single conscript; if there were a single privilege granted to anyone, no matter whom, not one man would obey the order to march."

During the mending of the decrepit sledge after a second breakdown, Napoleon, brooding as he paced up and down in the snow defended himself to his aide as to certain harsh methods. This defence almost reads as if it were a country very adjacent to Canada. Speaking of the previous French Court, he said:

"Robbery was carried on with impunity in those days, if one had a certain amount of credit and the support of a few men in office. The entire Court, even the princes of the blood . . . took allowances from contractors. Money was made out of everything. The streets of Paris were badly swept and even worse lighted because the princes accepted commissions from the scavenging and lighting contractors. I have the proof of it in my possession. Such an abuse as this is unknown in my Government. There are no gratuities, as far as I am aware. Men are paid good salaries, they are paid regularly, and it is well known that I should show no mercy to swindlers, still less to officials who did business on their own account. Never has the Treasury been in such good order . . ."

One gets a vastly different impression of Napoleon after reading "With Napoleon in Russia." Meanwhile, we in Canada think of our own Treasury, and a reported deficit of around $55,000,000, more or less.

FIFTY YEARS AGO TODAY

From The Daily Colonist of May 16, 1889.

The Webb Party—A special train conveying the Webb tourists left Winnipeg yesterday for Vancouver. The party expect to reach Victoria by Friday night. The steamship Islander has gone to Departure Bay where she will be beached and receive a new propeller, when she will return to Victoria, take on board the Webb party and sail for Alaska.

Pioneer Building Gone—Workmen were yesterday engaged in tearing down the old wooden structure on the northeast corner of Langley and Bastion Streets to make room for the new brick law offices for Messrs. Drake, Jackson & Helmcken. The old building now being demolished was erected in 1859 by Phil Backus, the principal auctioneer in Victoria at that time, for a residence. It was subsequently occupied by John Copeland as a law office and dwelling and then passed into the hands of Drake & Jackson, who have been in possession thereof for the past twenty years.

A Victory for Progress—As had been expected and hoped for by every enterprising citizen of Victoria the $55,000 loan by-law guaranteeing interest upon the bonds of the National Electric Tramway Company, was carried yesterday with a sweeping majority that spoke eloquently for the good sense of the people.

Roaming Adventurer Halliburton Missing Since Late in March

Sailing From Hongkong With Ten Companions, It Is Feared Junk and Crew Were Destroyed in a Typhoon

By IRA WOLFERT
(Released by the North American Newspaper Alliance, Inc.)

NEW YORK, May 15.—For the second time in sixteen years, Richard Halliburton is generally believed drowned, and hope has been abandoned for him.

On both occasions, the report indicated that this fabulous Tennessean had died with his boots on—with, at least, his seven-league boots on, since, the first time, the sea had stripped him of all his clothes. At any rate, he was searching energetically for high, romantic adventure. Living romantically was the way he made his living.

The fact that he did not die the first time was no fault of his. The crew of a Turkish sailing vessel fished him out of a violent squall which had burst over him while he was trying to swim the Hellespont and had blown him for miles through the Dardanelles. The Turks, confirmed forever in their belief in "crazy Americans," set him on the shore at Troy, where he stayed for several days until he could get a ship to Constantinople.

SEARCH ENDED

The melancholy search for his body ended when his body came bounding into Constantinople on its own legs and wearing a sunburn and wide grin. After that, a rule was passed never to believe Halliburton dead until Halliburton himself admitted it.

Today, a long silence seems to be a tacit admission of the grim fact. It's six weeks since a typhoon struck the Chinese junk on which he and a crew of ten were sailing spectacularly from Hongkong to the San Francisco Fair. March 24, that was, and although the junk was equipped with radio and numerous vessels plied nearby waters, nothing has been heard from or seen of the expedition since.

Thus, in a violent storm followed by unbroken stillness, ends, apparently, a career that has no exact parallel. Halliburton scored a great success as an author, a lecturer and traveler. Perhaps his greatest success consisted in doing what he set out to do as a young man fresh from Princeton—live the life of the hero of an adventure book, of, in fact, the heroes of many adventure books.

He was, despite a widespread impression to the contrary, a shy, very quiet, soft-spoken young man, restless when not on the move. All his life he was a target for other adventurers and travelers who seemed to resent most the fact that his scurryings about the globe were "pure fun" and had no such encumbrances as science, exploration, a hunt for buried treasure or rare raw materials.

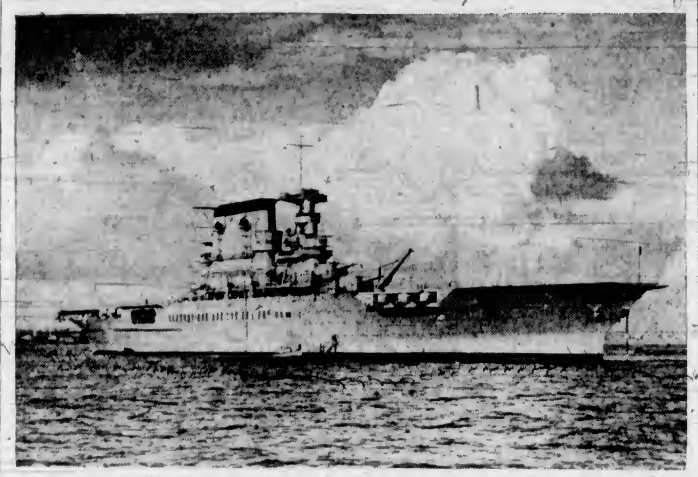

WANTED TO EAT

They sniped at him for publicizing himself so persistently, but the fact seems to be that Halliburton wanted adventure and also wanted to eat. He combined the two and, although the prolonged argument over which desire came first seems to be like the one about the chicken and the egg, there is a hint that adventure came first in the fact that he broke out of college in his junior year to ship aboard a freighter as an ordinary seaman.

Then they sniped at him for a lack of veracity in his stories. This Halliburton denied strenuously. They declared he never went where he said he had been, so Halliburton developed a habit of having himself photographed at each site. One at Chichen Itza, when he had himself photographed diving 175 feet into a well where sacrificial virgins had been tossed, the photographer missed the shot and Halliburton, whose ribs felt cracked by that time, stubbornly did it all over again.

After that, his rivals returned to their complaints about publicity-seeking. Halliburton never acquired any tranquility about his enemies' barbs and always resented the fact that many of his admirers thought, good-naturedly enough, "what if his tales are tall? They're good anyway."

Aircraft Carrier Lexington at Anchor

Returning to the Pacific with the United States fleet after extensive manoeuvres in the Caribbean Sea and along the Atlantic seaboard, U.S.S. Lexington is shown at San Pedro. The Lexington is 888 feet overall, has a beam of 105½ feet and displaces 33,000 tins. Her complement, including flying personnel, totals 1,899, of whom 169 are commissioned officers. She carries ninety aircraft.

First of Events For Small Craft Contested Sunday

Sailing in the first of the "B" Class series for the Commodore Ashe and George Broome Trophies on Sunday over the Cadboro Bay course, Penguin (Ned Ashe) finished first in the dinghy event; with Pancho (H. J. Barnes) in second place, and Teal (John Todd) third. The snipes, starting ten minutes after the dinghies, finished in the following order: Pelican (Frank Ward), P.D.Q. (John Moran).

The dinghies started at 2:15 p.m., the finishing times being: Penguin, 3:53 p.m.; Pancho, 3:55 p.m.; Teal, 4:23 p.m. Other boats sailing were Dabchick (J. H. Gann), and Canim (Tom Beeching). Times for the snipes were: Pelican, 4:07; P.D.Q., 4:17.

Herbert Gann was officer of the day; Stewart Mitchell starter, and Secretary J. C[illegible]con timekeeper.

Flyer Killed and Several Hurt in Plane Collision

GRAVESEND, England, May 15 (CP).—Midshipman Colin G. Hodgkinson, who lost his right leg in a mid-air collision between two Royal Air Force machines last Friday, still is in dangerous condition.

Hodgkinson's instructor, Flying-Officer Spanton, was killed and occupants of the second plane were seriously injured in the collision near here.

Flying-Officer F. R. Matthews, pilot of the other plane, tried unsuccessfully in 1930 to beat Bert Hinkler's record for a flight from England to Australia and also taught Amy Johnson to fly.

TOWED INTO ST. JOHN'S

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., May 25 (CP).—The rudderless Norwegian freighter Komet was towed into St. John's Harbor today by a sister-ship, the tramp Lab, after a five-day struggle with storms and ice. The Lab's officers said the tow lines had parted three times.

ARMS USELESS ON A WET DAY

Rheumatic Pains Relieved by Kruschen

Here is a noteworthy instance of the manner in which damp weather can affect the joints of one who is subject to rheumatic pains.

"I had been suffering from rheumatism very badly," a man writes, "and had such pains in my joints that I could hardly bear it on a wet day especially. It pained me terribly to use my arms, and I was hardly able to work. I tried two different remedies, but I was still as bad after the treatment.

"Then I was told to try Kruschen Salts, which quickly brought relief. So, of course, I have kept on with it, and I am now much better and have never felt so fit for years. I used to feel so miserable and sluggish, but now it is a pleasure to be able to work."—S B

The pains and stiffness of rheumatism are often caused by uric acid crystals in the muscles and joints. The numerous salts in Kruschen assist in stimulating the internal organs to healthy, regular activity, and help them to eliminate excess uric acid. (Advt.)

DR. HUNTER TO OPEN BIG KENNEL SHOW

Big Entry List to Seek Honors at Championship Event Saturday

It was announced yesterday by officials of the Vancouver Island Dog Fanciers' Association that Dr. J. D. Hunter, M.P.P., will officiate at the grand opening of the all-breed championship Spring show, which will be held under the direction of the organization at the Crystal Garden on Saturday next. Secretary Mrs. Chris Blocinfield also stated that all plans have been completed and more than 120 entries are already promised and the competition at this show is expected to be the keenest in the history of the club.

Bob Cross will judge all breeds and he is reported to be a first-class official and very competent, knowing thoroughly the standards of all dogs.

There is a large entry from the United States, with canines and their owners coming here from as far south as Los Angeles and San Francisco, which means that some beautiful dogs will be shown in the parade, which will be held during the evening session.

The Canadian Kennel Club Trophy for the best Dominion-bred dog or bitch is a magnificent cup, as is the Spratt's Sterling Cup for the best in the show. The trophy donated by His Honor Lieutenant-Governor Eric C. Hamber will go to the best sporting, while the English Cocker Kennel Club of Western Canada has donated a silver cup for the best of winners, either variety, solid or parti. Best of breed prizes will be cash this year and will be given when there are four or more in competition. Entries can be made with the secretary by telephoning G 4788.

Victoria Longshoremen Will Oppose Cameron Lumber Nine This Evening

Victoria Longshoremen vs. Cameron Lumber. That's the choice dish being served up this evening for local softball fans, with Royal Athletic Park as the scene of battle.

Kentractors, third berth nine, will oppose New Method Laundry at Victoria West Park. The laundrymen will be out to break into the win column and by so doing move ahead of their opponents in tonight's fixture.

Playing at Reynolds Road, I.B.S. eked out a 5-4 triumph over Saanichton in a "B" section game. George Meadmore's homer in the fifth broke a 3-3 deadlock and paved the way to victory for the building supply men.

Showing a complete reversal of form, Metchosin Rangers defeated the Young Liberals, 16-7, at Hampton Road, while at Bullen Park the Navy turned back the Esquimalt Athletic Club, 13-3.

WATER MAIN IS DAMAGED

Nanaimo Supply Imperiled When Vandals Tamper With Valves

NANAIMO, May 15.—Wilful damage through the removal of one valve and the destruction of another, believed to be the work of vandals, that imperiled the city's supply of water, is being investigated here. It was reported to the City Council meeting by City Engineer A. G. Graham, who displayed the damaged valve from the Tee Swamp district on the city's principal main. It may have been the work of a boy, declared the city engineer, but it was a very serious matter. The motive was inexplainable in view of the serious results which might have ensued.

The City Council tonight passed a grant of $100 for the Nanaimo Board of School Trustees towards meals for Nanaimo school children making the trip to Victoria during the Royal visit. May 30 was declared a civic holiday.

UNEMPLOYED TRANSIENTS

The council endorsed a three-clause resolution from Kingston, Ont., urging that a campaign be started to bring pressure to bear on governments to inaugurate unemployed insurance for all persons over sixteen years of age not supporting a home. Other clauses opposed the registering of transients by police or military, and asked that the Dominion Government notify municipalities when the registration of transients is completed, that the transients will be cared for by the Dominion Government without any added financial obligation to municipalities or provincial governments, with a view to bringing about a uniformity of care for transients in Canada.

MILK DELIVERIES

Nanaimo and District Dairymen's Association reported that they used their own milk from inspected herds, and when they ran short patronized their own members and were willing to co-operate with the council in its desire to have only Grade "A" milk delivered locally. They will be invited to meet the council next Monday night at the suggestion of Alderman Grieve, who thought it advisable to go into the question of persons delivering milk who were not members of the association. The question of public health safety is important, the council averred.

The council decided to delay the proposal of laying of pipes on a contract basis at the South Forks waterworks project until July 1, when figures in connection with the cost for June will be available and may have some important bearing on the suggestion one way or another.

RESTING

"Good morning, Uncle Joe. Did you sleep well? I'm afraid your bed was rather hard and uneven, but——"

"Oh, it was all right, thank you. I got up now and then during the night and rested a bit, you know."

It's the constructive way to deal with common constipation due to diet deficiency of "bulk".

NINE BASEBALL FIXTURES SET

Exhibition Series Opens Saturday—All-Stars Have Heavy Schedule

Facing their heaviest exhibition baseball schedule of the season, Victoria All-Stars will play nine games from May 20 to May 31, according to the fixture list announced yesterday by President W. J. Cull.

Locals open their intercity season Saturday, at Royal Athletic Park, where they will oppose the Chemainus All-Stars in a twin bill. The matinee attraction will commence at 2:15 o'clock and the nightcap at 5:45 o'clock. Up-Islanders will select one team from the four clubs in their league, and promise to make things interesting for Manager Fred McGinnis' proteges. The teams will play at Chemainus the next day, with the games at 2 o'clock and 5:30 o'clock.

Lowneys, Vancouver Senior League ball nine, will be here for a two-game series on Wednesday, May 24. The games will be played at the Caledonia Avenue ball lot at 10:30 o'clock and 5:30 o'clock. Lowneys opened the intercity series here last year and broke even in two tussles.

Nino Martini Can Sing Higher Notes Than Any Contemporary Tenor

"There is never absolute perfection. There is always room for improvement. And the more one studies, the more one improves. Sometimes when I begin to rehearse an aria which I have been singing for years I find, suddenly, something which can be altered for the better. One is never perfect. But it is good to believe that there is perfection. It is something to work for."

So, smilingly, says Nino Martini, idol of Metropolitan Opera audiences and of the concert-going and radio-listening public. With his accompanist, Miguel Sandoval, Mr. Martini arrived in Victoria on Sunday to enjoy a two-day rest before the recital at the Royal Victoria Theatre this evening.

A "HIGHEST" TENOR

It is said that Mr. Martini has probably the highest operatic tenor of this century. Tonight, in one of his Spanish songs, "El Trust de Los Tenorios," he will sing a D flat above high C. But he can sing several notes above this. Until he appeared in the opera at Milan, the world had waited more than fifty years to hear, in its original key, Bellini's once-famous work, "I Puritani," where the tenor has to sing F above high C. Bellini wrote the opera for Rubini, the renowned tenor who took the part of "Lord Arthur" at the first presentation of the opera in Paris in 1835, and who for many years after continued to sing the leading tenor role. Subsequent tenors in this opera, until Nino Martini's arrival, sang the famous aria in a lower key.

NEW ROLE HERE

The opera is not among those given at the Metropolitan, so his audiences in America have never heard Mr. Martini in this role, he said yesterday. But he likes the opera very much. It was one of the first in which he sang at Milan shortly after his debut at Verona at the age of twenty-two.

Although he loves his American audiences, Mr. Martini is still admittedly intensely Italian at heart. So much so that he means to return to his native Verona to live when his time comes to retire. Although he has been back to Italy nearly every year since he left there ten years ago, he has only once sung there, that being eight years ago in Rome. He has been kept very busy in America. English audiences have never heard him.

Make Their First Visit To Subway

LONDON, May 15 (CP-Havas).—Princess Elizabeth and her sister Princess Margaret Rose today rode in a third class compartment of the underground in the first visit they have ever made to London's extensive subway system.

They traveled in ordinary trains, mingling with other passengers, from St. James' Park to Charing Cross, where they changed to the Tottenham Court Road line. The journey lasted about twenty minutes. At Tottenham Court they walked along the crowded street to the Y.W.C.A. headquarters.

The Princesses set out from Buckinghain Palace by car with Lady Helen Graham, one of the Queen's ladies-in-waiting, and their governess, Miss Crawford.

WORK MACHINES

They drove to St. James' Park station where, helped by Lady Helen, they took two tickets from automatic machines.

First, Princess Margaret Rose watched pennies go in and tickets drop out. Then she and her sister both took their own tickets with pennies given to them by Lady Helen. Princess Margaret asked if she could carry all four tickets. She proudly walked up to the surprised ticket collector, who recognized her and handed them to him.

At Charing Cross they stepped out on to the crowded platform and with Lady Helen in charge, sought the Tottenham Court Road train, taking the escalator down to the northbound trains. It was the first time the Princesses had been on an escalator.

CHRIST CHURCH CATHEDRAL

The regular meeting of the Cathedral branch took place on Wednesday evening in the Memorial Hall. The president, Dick Batey, was in the chair. It was decided to hold a picnic for the members at Glinz Lake on May 24. The annual banquet will be held on June 14. At the conclusion of the business, Dean Elliott gave an interesting and humorous talk on his "Boyhood Reminiscences."

ST. JOHN'S, COBBLE HILL

St. John's A.Y.P.A., Cobble Hill, met on Tuesday in the vestry. It was decided that the members meet on Tuesday next to tidy the churchyard. After the business Phil La Fortune gave an account of his bicycle trip to Washington to the Scout Jamboree two years ago. Ben Evans gave a sketch of the beginning of the A.Y.P.A. in the province twenty-five years ago.

ST. MARK'S

The fortnightly meeting of St. Mark's A.Y.P.A. will be held in the Parish Hall tomorrow at 8 p.m. The programme will be in charge of Group Three, under the leadership of R. Hazelton.

Giant Cactus Plant Blossoms Profusely

With 243 blooms on it by actual count, this cactus, owned by J. P. Sylvester, 1716 Fort Street, is believed to be one of the largest specimens of the variety on Vancouver Island. The plant is more than four feet in diameter. It is five years old. Mr. Sylvester attributes the remarkable growth to the application of large amounts of water.

Government should go on borrowing money. He thought there was no danger of inflation as long as no more money were issued than would buy up all the goods produced in Canada, and was convinced the present money issue was far short of that level.

Finance Minister Charles Dunning, who sponsored the borrowing bill, said neither proposal would add anything to the powers now vested in the Government and the Bank of Canada. Adoption of either, apart from defeating the Government, would do nothing but alarm the public by indicating a new practice was being adopted.

WARNS AGAINST INFLATION

All history pointed to the suffering which followed inflation, said Hon. R. J. Manion, Conservative leader. While he did not profess to say whether an issue of $100,000,000 would mean inflation, he knew inflation would result from an issue of $600,000,000 as originally proposed by the Social Credit group on an earlier motion.

The Conservative leader said that there was a germ of truth in the idea that conditions could be bettered by monetary reform.

Mr. Coldwell made it clear the C.C.F. group differed fundamentally from Social Credit and was aware of the danger of inflation. He would issue $100,000,000 in only one year and would study the result before proceeding further.

The debate was adjourned by John Blackmore, Social Credit leader.

FIVE FINDS AN ANSWER

Overheard when Five-years-old met Six:

"When you're six I'll be seven, when you're seven I'll be eight," chanted Six. "When you're eight I'll be nine, when you're nine I'll be ten."

"Yes," said Five, "and you'll die a year before I do."

FORMER PUPILS PRESENT GIFTS

Retiring Victoria College Teachers Honored by Old Boys and Girls

Affectionate tribute to Miss Jeannette Cann and Mme. Sanderson-Mongin, two members of Victoria College faculty who have just retired after long association with the institution, was paid by former students on Sunday afternoon at a reception given at the Empress Hotel lower lounge.

Dr. S. J. Willis, deputy minister of education, and Mrs. Willis, were present as specially invited guests. Major Cuthbert Holmes, member of the first graduating class of Victoria College, in making a presentation gift on behalf of the old boys and girls, congratulated Miss Cann and Mme. Sanderson-Mongin on having attained well-earned leisure. The gift, he said, was a tribute from former students both present and absent, some as far distant as New York and California.

Miss Can, acknowledging the presentation on behalf of herself and Mme. Sanderson-Mongin, spoke appreciatively of the associations they had had in the college. In Victoria more than some other places the teacher had unusual opportunities to meet students from other countries, and in this connection she referred to brilliant pupils of Icelandic, Scandinavian, Chinese and Japanese nationality who had made valued contribution to the life of the college. She spoke regretfully of the decreasing interest in good books among the young people, making the teaching of English literature a more difficult task than in years gone by. On behalf of herself and Mme. Sanderson-Mongin, Miss Cann expressed gratitude for the good will, affection and many kindnesses experienced during their many years' association with the institution.

At the prettily-decorated tea table Mrs. P. H. Elliott, Mrs. S. J. Willis, Mrs. Hamilton Smith, and Miss Mary Hamilton presided in turn, and Mrs. W. H. Wilson and Miss Carol Menzies, accompanied by Miss Jessie Smith, contributed an informal musical programme.

Trinity College Confers Degree On Dean Elliott

Very Rev. Spencer Hayward Elliott, Dean of Columbia, will receive the degree of Doctor of Divinity from the University of Trinity College, Toronto, this Autumn, according to advice received by him a few days ago. The degree will be conferred at a convocation to be held on September 20.

The convocation will coincide with a conference and reunion of the clerical alumni and associates of the university, at which the Dean will be a guest. Dean Elliott has also accepted an invitation to deliver the Dean Star Lectures at Trinity College on September 19, 20, 21 and 22.

The Dean of Columbia has had a distinguished scholastic career, and won many honors at Leeds University and Victoria University in Manchester. He has lectured at Oxford University and preached from the pulpits of the university churches of both Oxford and Cambridge. He is the author of "When Trouble Comes," recently published, and other books.

"What did the bride's father do for the happy couple?"

"He bought their railway tickets."

"Ah!"

"But the happy pair didn't discover until after they got on the train that their tickets read only one way."

P.-T.A. COUNCIL HEARS REPORTS

Officers Elected at District Meeting—Would Establish Literature Department

P. E. George was unanimously re-elected president of the Victoria and District Council of Parent-Teacher Associations, at the annual meeting held on Friday night in the school board office. Mrs. E. Ingledew was elected to the position of vice-president, while J. T. Ross and Mrs. G. Anstey were unanimously re-elected to the positions of secretary and treasurer, respectively. Mrs. R. McInnes, R. Tipper and T. Smith were appointed to the executive. Eleven of the twelve member associations were each represented by two delegates at the meeting.

The District Council constitution, which was drawn up by a committee composed of Mrs. E. Ingledew, Mr. Bell and Mrs. Dawson, was officially adopted. A copy of the constitution will be sent to all member organizations within the near future. Mrs. E. Day, president of the James Bay Parent-Teacher Association, offered to send to each association a copy of the account of the meeting held in the Empress Hotel recently, at which time Mrs. Halberg, president of the British Columbia Parent-Teacher Federation, addressed delegates from Greater Victoria. A letter from the parent body informed the council that the federation is planning to hold its Fall executive meeting in Victoria this year. This will mark the first time that the British Columbia executive has met in the Capital City.

LITERATURE DEPOT

The British Columbia Federation is also considering the possibility of establishing a parent-teacher literature depot in Victoria for the use of district associations. This step is the result of a petition made to the federation by the district delegates at the Easter convention in Vancouver.

T. Smith, of Burnside P.-T.A., brought up for discussion the possibility of the District Council advertising in the local newspapers with a view of educating the parents on Vancouver Island in parent-teacher work.

The secretary was instructed to write to the Dominion and Provincial Ministers of Labor and bring to their attention the deplorable conditions which exist at the present time in the matter of Employment Bureau facilities. The District Council felt that more suitable quarters were urgently needed for the young men and women. Other organizations in Victoria were apparently of the same opinion, and it was felt that a concerted effort on the part of all groups would bring about the desired changes.

NEW PROGRAMME IS MADE PUBLIC

5:15 p.m.—State dinner at Government House.

Saturday, May 20

7:30 a.m.—Trooping of the color.

8:35 a.m.—Her Majesty will lay the cornerstone of the Supreme Court Building.

10:30 a.m.—Their Majesties will lunch privately with the Prime Minister at Laurier House.

1:00 p.m.—Garden party at Government House.

5:00 p.m.—Parliamentary dinner at Chateau Laurier.

Sunday, May 21

8:00 a.m.—Dedication of the National War Memorial.

11:30 a.m.—Depart from Ottawa for Kingston.

WILL SLOW DOWN

It was indicated in the official statement covering the changed programme, that the Royal train would slow down at Cornwall and Brockville so that Their Majesties, who would be on the rear platform of the train, might see and be seen by those who may gather to pay tribute to the King and Queen.

At Kingston, where Their Majesties were to have spent Sunday, the visit will be restricted to a drive through the city.

Their Majesties have indicated that rather than disappoint the people of Kingston and surrounding districts and particularly the school children and war veterans, they would like to carry out the proposed drive.

Under the changed programme the Royal tour will be restored to the original programme once the King and Queen reach Toronto next Monday.

MAJOR FUNCTIONS STAND

All major functions originally scheduled for Ottawa have been included in the condensed itinerary with the exception of the proposed drive through Ottawa and across the river to the Quebec town of Hull. This fixture was not mentioned, but may be fitted into the programme later.

Prime Minister Mackenzie King and almost his entire Cabinet will leave Ottawa at noon tomorrow for Quebec, where the Government leader will be one of the first to greet His Majesty while his ministers, with other Canadian privy councillors, will be presented.

RUSSIA DECLINES BRITISH PROPOSAL

be conditional upon the marching of British and French troops to their assistance.

The British thesis was that as Rumania and Poland separate Germany from a wide expanse of Soviet frontier, guarantees to those countries were tantamount to a guarantee to Russia.

FRANCE PRESSING BRITAIN

It was understood here that France was pressing Britain to relax her terms and give into Russia on certain points, particularly on the point of reciprocity. France already has an alliance with Russia.

Britain's reluctance to enter into an outright alliance was understood to be based on the theory a pact with the Communist country might influence Japan and Nationalist Spain to seek military alliance with Germany and Italy.

Besides, it is known both Poland and Rumania are not willing to have Russian troops cross their borders, even to aid in defence of their independence.

Prime Minister Chamberlain indicated as much in the House of Commons today, but suggested the attitude at Warsaw and Bucharest might have changed since the Soviet Foreign Vice-Commissar visited those capitals early this month.

A copy of the Russian note was sent to the French Government shortly after it was received today. It was understood London and Paris would confer immediately upon a reply.

TO NEGOTIATE AT GENEVA

In the House of Commons today Mr. Chamberlain confirmed early reports that Viscount Halifax and Potemkin would carry on negotiations for Russia's inclusion in the anti-aggression pact when the two men are in Geneva for the League of Nations Council meeting next Monday. Georges Bonnet, French Foreign Minister, probably will join in the discussions.

Mr. Chamberlain told the House of Commons that a foreign affairs debate would be held on Friday and it was considered possible the Government might be in a position to discuss the new Soviet note at that time.

The Labor Opposition protested loudly when Richard Butler, Foreign Under-Secretary, told the House the British Ambassador would attend General Franco's victory parade in Madrid next Friday. The Government insisted the Ambassador followed usual diplomatic practice in accepting an invitation to watch the parade.

OLD QUEBEC DRESSES UP

pleted for the greatest firework display ever carried out in the province.

The show will be presented on Wednesday night when the Royal visitors have retired to their Quebec residence in the Citadel after a long round of touring and official functions.

On Levis Heights, within sight of the Citadel, an area a mile and a half square will blaze during the fifty-minute pyrotechnic show.

Flaming pictures of the King and Queen will appear in the sky at one moment during the display, which will end when "God Save the King and Queen" is flashed high over the harbor.

ARMY CHIEF IS VISITOR HERE

Colonel Peacock Sympathetic Towards Problems Facing Youth Today

Although he was sympathetic towards the difficulties facing youth today, he thought they had come into a better world than had their fathers, and if they will display the same qualities of courage and initiative they can make a good living, said Colonel George W. Peacock, chief secretary of the Salvation Army yesterday. "Everything possible, however, should be done to encourage the young men of Canada to settle down and tackle what lies to hand. Responsible authorities should do all possible to initiate projects which will provide useful employment," he stated.

Interviewed at the officer's quarters yesterday, Colonel Peacock who is in the city to conduct young people's councils over the week-end, said that there was too much molly-coddling of youth by public speakers, much of which is obnoxious to youth itself. He felt that there are still opportunities available to youth.

"Some of our Canadian leaders who have made the greatest success of life have faced tremendous odds and with limited equipment have risen to the top by the display of courage, perseverence and initiative," he declared.

GIVING SERVICE

The chief secretary said the Salvation Army was contributing generously to alleviate distress among single transients. Despite the difficulties encountered during recent years the work of the Army had been kept up to standard, and has continued to render valuable social and religious services to peoples of all ages and nationalities.

Colonel Peacock urged that churches, authorities and civic organisations make a careful survey of the causes of crime among juveniles. "It is vastly more important," he emphasized, "to prevent crime than to punish the criminals." He also thought that public and government bodies should exercise more control over magazines and literature sold over newsstands, and that all obscene literature should be banned because of its demoralizing influence upon the younger generation.

Colonel Peacock, who has been a service club member for twenty years, will address the Gyro Club tomorrow on "The Motivating Force In Service." On Tuesday he will speak to the Kiwanis Club on "Ten Commandments For Kiwanians." He is accompanied on his visit to Victoria by Brigadier M. Junker, Divisional Commander for British Columbia, and Brigadier W. Oake, of Winnipeg.

WATER CHAIRMAN ATTENDS PARLEY

Ald. John A. Worthington Reports On Annual Pacific Northwest Convention in Tacoma

On his return from the annual convention of the Pacific Northwest section of the American Waterworks Association at Tacoma last week, Alderman John A. Worthington related that the Puget Sound city reported satisfactory progress in garbage disposal by filling in waste land. He was informed that many acres had been reclaimed by that means.

Alderman Worthington stated he was particularly impressed with a paper on "Waterworks Planning," by Samuel B. Morris, dean of engineering at Stanford University, and intended to discuss some of the points at the next City Council water board meeting.

He said opinion varied at the convention on the subject of bonding current-carrying electric wires to water mains. He was informed that Tacoma used locally-made concrete pipe for its flow lines, and thought that such pipe could be produced in this city.

He asserted that Victoria was fortunate in securing a plentiful supply of clean, fresh mountain water, whereas Tacoma was forced to chlorinate its supply.

What Today Means

"TAURUS"

If May 16 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 10:15 a.m. to 12:15 p.m.; from 2:15 to 4:15 p.m., and from 8:15 to 10:15 p.m. The danger periods are from 8:15 to 10:15 a.m.; from 6:15 to 8:15 p.m., and from 10:15 p.m. until midnight.

The blustering, threatening, bulldozing type of person will not succeed in cowering anyone with the slightest bit of gumption or courage this day. Under no circumstances give any indication of a lack of faith in your ability to do any task allotted to you, for through perseverance you ought to be able to do it well. The less you have to say to pugnaciously inclined people the better off you will be this day. Nodding your head is a poor way to express yourself for through the wrong inclining of the head a good deal of trouble is likely to originate. People who refuse to listen to reason, or who cannot hold their tongues when someone is trying to make an explanation, are liable to find themselves subjected to a great deal of humiliation within a short time. Married and engaged couples, and those who have found their ideal of a lifetime companion, must not let sentiment interfere with their good judgment or common sense.

If a woman and May 16 is your birthday, a good appetite, gained through the proper amount of exercise, should help to keep you in excellent health. You are apt to be the type of woman who ought not to diet so as to satisfy a foolish whim of vanity. In making statements avoid dealing in generalities if you would keep out of trouble. If you doubt the sincerity of a friend, it might be good judgment to be sure that you are right in your surmise before you accept it as a fact. You may be too ready to worry over other people's problems instead of devoting your thoughts to your own. Your financial status, in all likelihood, will work out most satisfactorily. Through some literary, educational, artistic, dramatic or musical activity you may have presented to you a wonderful opportunity to make a name and money for yourself. Through marriage should come some of your happiest experiences and a wealth of love and devotion that will be most satisfying.

The child born on May 16, has ing, publicity work, architecture, generally a great amount of initiativeness, through which its energy and self-reliance will be demonstrated. In the final summing up of this youngster's life it probably will be found that it has been well rewarded in proportion to its efforts.

If a man and May 16 is your natal day, your firmness of character, honesty of purpose, and some unselfish ambition are likely to be richly rewarded. Through engineering, theology, teaching, painting, acting, selling, writing or sculpturing you are apt to have a justifiable pride in what you have been able to accomplish.

Baseball Champions Chalk Up Second Straight Shutout Over Connie Mack's Club Behind Pitching of Wes Ferrell—Red Sox Down Senators—Cubs Set Back Pittsburgh

By The Canadian Press

New York Yankees blanked the Athletics for the second straight day today, winning, 3-0, behind the combined five-hit pitching of Wes Ferrell and Johnny Murphy to run their American League baseball victory streak to five straight.

Ferrell, making his second start of the year, was credited with the win, although he had to leave after the seventh inning because of a pain in the elbow. He allowed all five hits made by the Athletes.

Fritz Ostermueller held the Senators to eight hits while Boston pounded Washington pitchers for a 9-2 victory in the only other game scheduled in the American League.

In the only National Leaxue fixture scheduled, the Cubs resumed their winning ways over Pittsburgh Pirates, trimming them, 6-2, in a National League baseball game behind the six-hit pitching of the veteran Larry French.

Thirteen horses are expected to start.

Syngo Bay, a brown gelding owned by Mrs. R. E. Webster, of Maitland, Ont., is conceded an outside chance to whip Sea General and Archworth, the favorites. Mrs. Webster is so high on his chances that Johnny Longden, the Cardston, Alta., flash may be commissioned for saddle duty.

Mrs. Webster came close to scoring a victory in the 1933 running of the classic. Syngo finished third that year, beaten by Seagram Stable's O'Connor and H. C. Hatch's Eastern Hatter.

Chances of Willie Morrissey, Toronto sportsman, to retain the guineas he won last year when Bunty Lawless sprinted to victory, appear slim. He nominated Gas House. The colt recorded a dull two-year-old campaign, and training trials have not shown anything to place him among the threats.

A new name cropped into Plate topics during the week-end when Ensign Mary, a filly owned by Jack Holland, John Rogers, was reported to have covered the full Plate distance in 1:55, the best trial by a Plate eligible to date.

The trial caused a stir around the stables at Woodbine Park as the filly had not been considered as a possible starter.

MAUREEN HILL WINS TROPHY

Captures Hodges Cup at Gorge Vale Golf Club From Isabel Jarvis

Miss Maureen Hill won the Hodges Cup in a hard-fought match with Miss Isabel Jarvis, the holder, at the Gorge Vale Club at the week-end, winning by 3 and 2. Miss Hill and Miss Jarvis were the finalists in the competition, which is knock-out on handicap, and which this year produced some keenly-fought matches.

In order not to conflict with the men's championship, which is being held a month earlier this year, the women's club championship is being postponed until September. Instead, the Wenger Trophy, usually played for in the Fall, will start on May 20 and 21. This is a two-ball foursome, knockout, partners being allowed half their combined handicap. Entries should be in not later than Thursday of this week to permit of the draw being made on Thursday.

On Wednesday afternoon, May 24, the women's captain and secretary match will be played over eighteen holes, to be followed by tea. Members are requested to make their entries in these competitions as soon as possible, either at the clubhouse or through Mrs. D. R. Hurdle, the secretary, or Mrs. H. P. Hodges, captain.

BOSTON, May 15 (AP)—In a surprise move, Brooklyn Dodgers today unconditionally released Tony Lazzeri, veteran infielder, who was signed during the Winter for utility service.

Lazzeri, now thirty-four, has appeared in fourteen of the Dodgers' nineteen games this Spring.

LIBERALS IN SOCCER WIN AT NANAIMO

Victoria Intermediates Defeat Cumberland in Vancouver Island Final

NANAIMO, May 15.—Two sharpshooters on Victoria Young Liberals forward line were responsible for an 8-1 defeat of Cumberland Wanderers here Sunday, when the Island intermediate championship and the Davies Cup were at stake. Albert Politano, youthful centre-forward for Liberals, scored three goals in the first half, spacing them about ten minutes apart.

Two minutes after the second half started, Wanderers were given a penalty, which Moss connected with and saved after Somerville drove a hard one almost straight at him. After fifteen minutes, Cosier, inside left, scored his first and the fourth goal for Victoria. Ten minutes later he repeated for a 5-0 lead.

Wanderers' only goal was scored next when Colling, who had started at left back, took over the left half position and scored. Cosier tied his teammate, Politano, by completing the hat-trick, and, for good measure, booted in another one ten minutes before time. With only a minute to spare, Politano tied up the scoring honors with Cosier by making it 8-1.

The Wanderers, while outclassed, fought gamely from the start. They have a fast forward line, but a weak defense, and attributed their defeat to lack of opposition and games in the early part of the season.

"LITTLE ENGLAND"

A little girl presented herself for enrollment the first day of school. She looked very much like a true daughter of Italy.

"You are an Italian?" asked the teacher.

"No'm," was the reply.

"But wasn't your father born in Italy?"

"Yes'm."

"And wasn't your mother born in Italy?"

"Yes'm."

"Well, you must be Italian."

"No'm. I'm English," she insisted, "I was born in Victoria."

EXPLANATION FOR SUNDAY'S RIPLEY CARTOON

Elected Governor Before Oregon Existed—Governor John Whiteaker, of Oregon (1831-1902), was elected Governor of the State of Oregon before there was any such State. Thinking that Congress had already acted on the application for admission to the Union, Oregon held elections in which John Whiteaker was elected Governor in 1858. The Act of Congress, admitting Oregon, was not passed until February 14, 1859, at which time, as soon as the news reached Oregon, Governor Whiteaker immediately assumed his duties.

Walter Newcombe Scores Easy Win In Oak Bay Golf

Defeats Bob Morrison in Final of Club Championship, 8 and 6—Leading at the Turn by Three Holes—Shoots First Nine in Afternoon In 34—Hon. John Hart Presents Cup

Taking a three-up lead at the end of the morning eighteen holes, Walter Newcombe captured the men's championship of the Victoria Golf Club on Sunday by defeating Bob Morrison in the scheduled thirty-six-hole final, 8 and 6. The one-sided result came as a surprise to the gallery, for most of them never thought for a moment that Newcombe would run away with the decision. Following the match, Hon. John Hart, the club president, presented the Harvey Combe Bowl to the winner and congratulated him on his fine victory.

Newcombe was right on top of his game in the afternoon and soon ended the battle shortly after the second nine got under way. The pair reached the ninth green in the forenoon all square and then Newcombe took the lead at the thirteenth and then captured the sixteenth and seventeenth with a pair of birdies to go to lunch holding a three-up lead. The winner increased his margin at the nineteenth and then went five up at the twenty-second. He was still leading by five holes at the three-quarter distance. Newcombe then closed out the match at the thirtieth by winning the next three holes.

ATHLETICS IN 6-4 WIN OVER SAILOR SQUAD

Timely Double by Charlie Restell Paves Way for Baseball Triumph

HOW THEY STAND

	W.	L.	Pct.
Athletics	2	0	1.000
Navy	1	1	.500
Eagles	0	1	.000
Pitzer & Nex	0	1	.000

Last night's score:
Athletics 6, Navy 4.
Next game, tomorrow: Eagles vs. Pitzer & Nex, Royal Athletic Park.

Bunching three of their four hits in the second frame and sending five runners scampering across the home plate, Manager Tommy Restell's Athletics last night defeated the Navy, 6-4, in a senior baseball fixture played at Royal Athletic Park. The win was the second of the season for the Athletics, and shunted them out in front in the flag race.

It was Charlie Restell's double with the sacks loaded, that really brought the winners through to victory over an improved sailor aggregation of ball-tossers. The lanky Athletics' shortstop laced into one of Murray's fast balls and kissed the left centrefield fence. Given, Cann and Kinnear, three clubmates on the cushions, scored on the hit.

Murray, promising young right-hander, started on the slab for the Navy and bumped into trouble as early as the second frame, finally giving way to Eddie DeCosta. The sailors' starting pitcher was nicked for three safeties, two of them for extra bases, and gave up five markers. DeCosta worked nicely, limiting the A's to a lone single by Bill Pollard, and but for a wild pitch in the sixth frame, would not have been scored against in his four and two-third innings on the hillock.

SAILORS FRONT

Sailors showed in front in the first inning when Vic Dovey, smart short-stop, circled the bags. They added a run in the fourth and loaded the cushions in the fifth, but failed to come through in the pinches. In the sixth, Esquimalt bluejackets made a game bid for victory, but their rally ended after two runners crossed the plate.

Athletics scored five runs in the second inning and added another in the sixth. Ray Casey, their third sacker, was ejected from the game for disputing a call by Base Umpire Eddie Newman.

Lloyd Cann, making his first start of the season, sent ten Navy batters back to the dugout via the strikeout route. Seven members of the Athletics fanned the cool evening breeze, Murray turning back three, and Decosta four.

Eddie DeCosta topped the batters with two singles out of three trips to the plate.

H. Vopel Seriously Hurt As Bike Race Is Opened

Famous German Bike Rider Suffers Concussion of The Brain in Spill in New York Event—Peden Brothers in Sixth Place

NEW YORK, May 16 (AP).—Heinz Vopel, of Germany, one of the best of the modern six-day bicycle racers, suffered a concussion of the brain and possibly more serious injuries last night two hours after the sixty-fifth international grind started in Madison Square Garden.

Vopel, who was teamed with Henry O'Brien, of San Francisco, in the twelve-man field, fell as he rode out of the Ninth Avenue turn during a jam. His pedal caught in the track, and, as he bumped down to the flat, his head striking the boards, a rider came from behind and accidentally pedalled over his head.

Taken to a hospital across the street from the Garden, Vopel underwent an X-ray examination which disclosed the concussion. Dr. Henry Clauss, the Garden physician, said it would take seventy-two hours to determine if the rider suffered more serious injury.

Vopel's partner, Henry (Cocky) O'Brien, of San Francisco, was given four hours in which to secure a new partner.

O'Brien kept on riding and at 1 a.m., E.D.T. (9 p.m., P.S.T., Monday) maintained a tie for first place with three full teams—Jules Audy, of Montreal, and Cecil Yates; Tino Reboli and Angel Debacco, and Alvaro Georgetti and Cesar Moretti. They had covered ninety-two miles and eight laps. The Peden brothers, of Victoria, rode in sixth place.

OAKLANDS BOXLA LINE-UP

Dad: MAKE YOUR SON THIS Sporting Offer

and he will be sure to pass his EXAMS

SAY to him:—"Son, I know you want a C.C.M. Bicycle. I was going to reward you with one if you passed your mid-summer exams. But I'm going to be a good sport and buy you one right away so that you'll have all the extra time between now and midsummer to enjoy it. But I'll expect you to prove you are a good sport, too, by studying hard and passing with good marks. If you fail we will have to take the bicycle back to the dealer."

The C.C.M. Company and the C.C.M. dealer will back you up in this offer, Dad. They will allow you the full price you paid for the C.C.M., if your boy (or your girl) fails to pass at midsummer. (Claim must be made within one week of the announcement of the term's results.) But he will not let you down. When your boy says he will do a thing he will do it.

This year's C.C.M.'s set the pace in style, beauty and easy running. With working parts of specially hardened steel, machined to hair-line accuracy, they run with marvelous quietness and smoothness. To pedal a C.C.M. requires little effort, and the free-running C.C.M. Coaster Brake enables a rider to frequently coast long distances without any foot-work.

All models have seamless tubular steel frames; plated or enamelled steel rims, rustless steel spokes; bright parts chromium plated over a 20-year nickel foundation, Dunlop Fort or Imperial Tires; and other C.C.M. features. For quality and value a C.C.M. is still the big bicycle buy of 1939.

Opening Rally Unsustained in New York Mart

NEW YORK, May 15 (AP).—The stock market stumbled into a small-size rally at the start of today's proceedings but soon lost the advancing urge.

Gains, running to a point or so were whittled down appreciably or wiped out entirely. Final price changes either way generally were in minor fractions.

The first hour's turnover was the best. From then on the ticker tape dawdled. Total transfers were 334,600 shares against 343,530 last Friday. The Associated Press average of sixty shares was up .1 of a point at 45.9.

Steels pushed upward in the morning, but backed away when it was officially estimated this week's mill operations would be off 1.6 points at 45.4 per cent of capacity. U.S. Steel ended unchanged and Bethlehem was off 3-8 of a point. Chrysler was unchanged and General Motors up 1-8.

Kroger Grocery, liveliest of the list, edged into new high territory for the year in response to a slightly improved outlook for the chain stores. The stock slipped to finish up 1-8 at 25.

Modest gains were retained by Goodyear, Sears-Roebuck, Douglas Aircraft, American Telephone, Great Northern, American Smelting, Westinghouse and Eastman Kodak. In arrears were Montgomery Ward, Anaconda, N.Y. Central, Caterpillar Tractor, United Aircraft and Union Carbide.

United States Government issues forged upward in the bond market today, many maturities touching the highest levels in history.

Gains throughout the Federal list ranged to 11-32nds of a point. Polish 8's closed at 46 1-2, up 1 1-2. German 5 1-2's of '65 at 19 5-8, up 1, and Milan 6 1-2's at 46 1-4, up 1. Off 1 were Japanese 5 1-2's at 61 3-4.

According to Culbertson

If every error came home to roost in terms of points we would soon see an enormous improvement in the general calibre of bridge. Unfortunatly, however, the error of one player often is put right by a subsequent error on the part of his opponents, with the result that the first player never finds out that he made a mistake. In today's hand, for example, the contract was "kicked around" by both declarer and defenders as though it were a football.

The bidding

South	West	North	EAST
1 ♠	2 ♦	2 ♠	Pass
2 NT	Pass	4 ♠	Pass
Pass	Pass

West's two diamond overcall was the sort of bid that makes experts shudder. Not that they would pass with West's hand, but they never would be guilty of making a bid that had so much to lose and so little to gain. They would work on the principle that one outstanding chance to "get anywhere" with the East-West hands was for West to invite a heart bid from partner. Hence, they would double one spade for a take-out rather than make the ambiguous and probably ineffectual minor suit overcall. As it happened, even though East had a five-card heart suit headed by the king, he could not have taken much action and North-South still would have landed the contract, but that is neither here nor there. The fact is that West should have selected his bid with more logic.

Against the four spade contract West could find no sounder opening than a trump. Declarer won in his own hand and drew a second round, then led a club toward dummy. West went right up with the ace and, unwilling to start the heart or diamond suits, exited with his remaining club. This gave declarer a chance to get rid of one of his heart losers, which he promptly proceeded to do on dummy's fourth club. West discarded the nine of hearts on the third club and then, intent on telling East, that he (West) also had excellent diamonds, blatantly discarded the nine of diamonds on the fourth club. Now declarer attempted to strip hearts from dummy and his own hand. He led the seven spot, praying that East would not put up a high card which would permit him to shift to diamonds. East obliged and declarer's ten spot lost to West's queen. Now West laid down the heart ace. Declarer ruffed and entered dummy with a trump, then led the eight of diamonds. East, realizing that his partner was about to be thrown on lead, tried to save the ship by covering with the ten.

If declarer had paid the slightest attention to West's previous discard of the diamond nine he now could have assured his contract by covering the ten with the queen. West, on winning with the king, would have to return a diamond from his J-6 up to declarer's A-7, or another heart that would permit a ruff and discard. But now the declarer came forward with a beautiful "bull" of his own to cover up the slips previously made by the defenders. Perhaps he forgot that the nine of diamonds was gone. Perhaps he hoped that East's ten spot was a singleton. I cannot be sure of his reason, but I do know the he deliberately played the seven on East's ten permitting it to hold the trick! East promptly returned his remaining diamond and declarer's contract went up the flue.

Consider the variety of errors that took place in the play of this hand! First, West permitted declarer to discard a heart on dummy's club. (I am not inclined to stress this point since it might have been fatal for West to have shifted to a heart, and, of course, it would have been fatal for him to have shifted to a diamond.) Second, West let go the nine of diamonds. Third, East failed to rise with the heart king when the heart seven was played from dummy. And, finally, in order to return victory to the defenders, where it belonged in the first place, declarer overlooked a sure throw-in play. As I have said, this was more like football than bridge!

CHAPTER XX

Friday morning's Arizona Republic, the leading daily paper in Phoenix, answered a question that was on everybody's lips. Or almost everybody's.

"Arizona politics took a significant turn yesterday afternoon," the paper stated on page 1, "when the candidacy of Edward D. Bradley, former Maricopa County cattleman, for governor of the state was announced by display of his portrait simultaneously in the downtown sections of every Arizona county seat. Mr. Bradley will seek the Democratic nomination, which in most instances heretofore has been tantamount to election.

"First hint of his candidacy came exactly at three o'clock yesterday, when forty-foot banners carrying only his portrait were suddenly draped on downtown buildings in Phoenix. At once people began telephoning the newspaper offices as to the identity of the man pictured. He was soon recognized as Mr. Bradley, and his publicity agent, Miss Genevieve Morris, confirmed the suspicion that he would seek the governor's chair. Within an hour, news of similar banners throughout the state had come in, and Miss Morris admitted having arranged for them.

"'Mr. Bradley has not been a politician,' Miss Morris explained. 'He has minded his own business, successfully, for many years, and quiet about it. He has many friends among cattle rangers, but we wanted him known to the public at large. Every important newspaper in the state will carry a full page portrait of him this week, too.

"'However, Mr. Bradley's pictures or so-called cards definitely will not clutter up the trees and posts of the campaigns. His contact with the public will be made entirely through newspaper and radio advertising and personal calls hereafter.'"

There was much more of it. A two-column illustration, also on page 1, was a photograph of the banner high on Luhrs Tower. And the accompanying news article elaborated on the fact that Mr. Bradley would advocate state parks and tax revision.

Page 3 of the paper was a full-page advertisement with Ed's same skillfully drawn picture eight columns wide, and with only these words in a lower corner:

"Meet Ed Bradley, Your Next Governor."

All told, the display and the proclamations were a little frightening to the Bradley family.

"I don't know about all this," Ed grumbled at breakfast, over the paper. "Seems to me like they're making me out too important."

"No, it's just you're not used to it," his wife said.

"They have to toot your horn, Daddy," Alita put in. "Don't they? You can't be a blushing violet if you're going to run for governor."

"But do I have to be a bellowing bull?"

"You're not bellowing. It's the paper doing it for you. Or Milton. Or that Miss—what's her name?—Morris."

"Don't know her."

"Milton'll know, won't he?"

"Likely. He was making all the arrangements. But I got to get out and campaign myself. I know that. My old cronies here and there will want to see me in person, not just a picture. This political business makes me uncomfortable. I'm more at home in a saddle."

"Dad, you've sold out of ranching, remember," Don reminded him. "You're a plutocrat now."

"Humph!" Ed snorted the contempt he felt. He glared at the paper before him.

For two bits (his own quotation) Ed would have backed out of the campaign the first day. Prominence had come overnight to settle on him like a fog. Everywhere he went people pointed to him. Men downtown greeted him heartily. He forced a genial grin and returned their greetings as sincerely as he could; he had committed himself to run, and he swore to himself that he'd see it through.

"I'm not promising a thing," he repeated again and again to people who talked with him, including newspaper folk. "I'm going to run for governor, but I'll not make a single promise as to what I'll do. I'm just going into office with an open mind and no obligations, or, I'm not going in at all. Remember that!"

"You'll have to take care of your helpers, won't you?" a newspaper man asked. "It's customary. You can pick capable ones."

"I'll pick them after I'm elected, not before. I've got some ideas about improving the state and I don't want my hands tied, with promises."

He stuck with that stand.

Jane Dixon Says:

A WIDOW LIVES IN CONSTANT FEAR THAT PEOPLE ARE AFTER HER MONEY, SO MUCH SO THAT SHE HAS EVEN DENIED HERSELF ROMANTIC HAPPINESS

You can't take it with you!

"Dear Jane: I say 'dear Jane' because you've made me feel I know you that well. I am a widow. My husband left me a modest fortune invested so that I do not need to worry.

"Sometimes I think it would have been better if he hadn't left me anything, because no matter what anyone does for me I think first that they're after my money.

"I feel this way even toward my own children. Whatever they say or do I see something back of it. Three years after my husband's death I met a fine man who would have been a good husband and a companion to me, but I got the idea he was after my money, though he was a doctor with a wide practice and made more than my income. He asked me to marry him, but suddenly I saw the dollar sign between us. Since that time he has become an outstanding obstretrician and earns more in a month than I draw in a year. He married the head nurse in his hospital, and she is enjoying all the happiness I could have had if I had good sense instead of money sense.

"My eldest son has a chance to buy a partnership in a flourishing business and has asked me to go on his note for half the amount needed. It is not the entire amount of his inheritance under his father's will, but the money is mine during my lifetime, and if the business failed what would I do? It seems like it can't fail, and I know it is a fine chance for my son, but still and all, I can't get over the feeling that people are using me for what they can get. What do you do with the money you earn?—Woeful Widow."

Answer: Thank heaven there are no dollar complexes in my family. We turn our money into the family fund and we go to the monetary bat for one another when money is needed or gives promise of profit.

I know that this community spirit gives us a pride of production and that every man Jack of us does his utmost to build up the fund. Up to now we've had no mavericks, but it one appears we'll handle him or her.

Why not give your son his opportunity? If he fails it is his fault. If he falls short of opportunity in this case, it is your fault.

I'm sorry you did not marry the doctor. The service of the wife in the profession of medicine is one of sacrifice and of understanding. That is what you need.

The best of fortunes, however secured, are wiped out in a day, but a good heart lives on forever.

A GOOD AGE

Two travelers, returning home late one night, lost their way.

Said one, "We are in a cemetery; this is a gravestone."

"Whose is it?" asked the other.

The more sober of the two, having struck a match, said, "I don't know, but he seems to have lived to a good age—175."

"See can you read the name," insisted his companion.

Another match having been lit—"I don't know him, some fellow called Miles from Dublin."

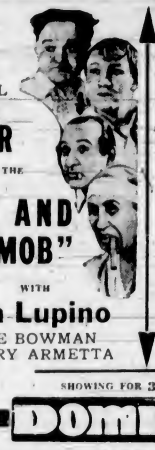

"My Aberdeen boy friend has sent me his photo."

"How does he look?"

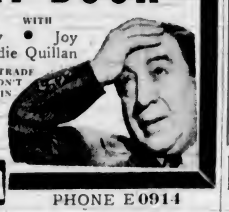

"I don't know yet. I haven't had it developed."

CHEMAINUS DWELLING DESTROYED BY FLAMES

CHEMAINUS, May 15.—Fire yesterday afternoon completely destroyed the home of John Kurlic on the Casswell subdivision. The building was a one-story frame structure. Mr. Kurlic stated that there had been no fire in the house since morning. The fire started in the interior, however, and the flames were coming through the roof when the alarm was turned in.

The Chemainus volunteer fire brigade, under Captain Swanson, responded.

"John, I hope I didn't see you snuffing at that girl."

"I hope you didn't, my dear."

Hospital Day Is Event at Ganges

Hospital Day was observed last Friday afternoon at the Lady Minto Gulf Islands Hospital, Ganges, when a large number of residents visited the institution. The visitors were welcomed by Mrs. G. J. Mouat, president of the Hospital Auxiliary, and Miss M. Ross, matron. The corridors were prettily decorated for the occasion, with masses of lilac, irises, narcissi and tulips, given by members of the board, auxiliary and subscribers.

The gifts for the shower were received by Mrs. W. M. Mouat and Miss A. Lees. By the stall of knitted goods, which was under the management of Mrs. Frank Crofton, the sum of $22 was cleared. Part of this amount, $12.50, will go for affiliation fees to the Provincial Board of British Columbia Hospitals, and the remainder towards hospital funds. An attractive feature of the stall was the box of lilies of the valley, donated for sale and made up into little sprays by Mrs. T. Reid.

At several small tables on the veranda tea was served during the afternoon by Mrs. M. B. Mouat, Mrs. J. Anderson, Mrs. W. Palmer, Mrs. D. Fyvie, Mrs. G. St. Denis, Mrs. C. Beddis, Mrs. S. W. Hoole, Mrs. H. Noon and Mrs. P. Lowther. Mrs. Ross Young and Miss F. Grove were responsible for teacup reading, and the money raised in this way will be placed towards hospital funds.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Lowe donated $5 to each of the following rooms in the hospital: I.O.D.E., Guild of Sunshine and Institute.

MUTUAL ADMIRATION SOCIETY

Used today with reference to people who log roll, these words first sprang from a loftier and more serious vein.

The original allusion was to a group of men all of whom were so talented that they could not help admiring each other.

They were the "Saturday Club," a group of literati who met once a month and dined, and to whom in all good will was applied the name "Mutual Admiration Society." The membership included Emerson, Longfellow, Hawthorne, Pierce and Sumner.

Oliver Wendell Holmes popularized the expression when in his humorous classic, "The Autocrat of the Breakfast Table," one of his characters, answering the question whether he belonged to the Mutual Admiration Society, replies:

"I blush to say I do not at this moment. I once did, however. It was the first association to which I ever heard the term applied a body of scientific men in a great foreign city, who admired their teacher and, to some extent, each other. They have since become famous."

SUBURBAN SILHOUETTES

Hubby: "You knew before we got married that you were marrying a bank clerk, didn't you?"

Wifey: "Of course I did. Why?"

Hubby: "Oh, nothing. Only I thought, perhaps, you imagined you'd married a bank director!"
